

WOMAN IN POLICE COURT TELLS SAD STORY OF HUSBAND'S NEGLECT

Delia R. Hebert, an elderly woman, told a harrowing tale of neglect before Judge Enright in police court this morning. She stated how she had lived from hand to mouth from time to time when her husband refused to contribute to her support, how she had worked long hours in a store to accumulate money and was finally forced into bankruptcy and that she lived in a shack for several months and had to borrow money to pay her carfare to appear in court this morning on the complaint which she entered against him.

The complaint was one of neglect of wife, the defendant being the husband, Edward Hebert. Arthur E. Broad of Boston appeared for the complainant, the defendant being represented by A. O. Hamel.

Mrs. Hebert during the course of her testimony said that she had lived at Randolph, Mattapan and Silver Lake, and came to this city a short time ago at the solicitation of her husband. A short time ago she awoke and found a note on the table which said that he was coming to Lowell. She followed him and upon meeting him in this city they took up their place of abode in a lodging house in Appleton street, but they did not stay there long. She said that he took her to a place in South street where the conditions were so filthy that she could not live there.

"Your Honor," she said, "I have lived four times in four weeks. I have lived for several days at a time without having a morsel of food to put in my mouth, and when I came to court, this morning I had to borrow money to pay my carfare. I lived in a camp for a long time and had to take care of myself while he was away and offered me no support."

During the course of the testimony it was brought out that the defendant is employed at the East Somerville engine house of the Boston & Maine railroad and makes at least $24 a week. Stories of jealousy and various other troubles were brought out during the course of the testimony. Mrs. Hebert told how she had made $1600 in a year conducting a store at Silver Lake and that she turned over every cent of it to her husband.

After the testimony had been submitted to the court Judge Enright found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay his wife $7 a week, placing him in the custody of the probation officer.

RECKLESS DRIVER FINED $150

The greater part of this morning's session of police court was taken up with the trial of the case of Richard Hoyle who was charged with recklessly operating a motor vehicle and also with operating a motor vehicle in such a way as to endanger the safety of the public. After the witnesses had been heard Judge Enright found the defendant guilty on the complaint of reckless driving and imposed a fine of $150. Hoyle appealed and was held under $500 bonds for his appearance before the superior court.

According to the testimony offered Herman Grantz and George Small, police officers of Chelmsford, had set a "trap" for automobilists along that short stretch of Gorham street in Chelmsford between the Lowell and Billerica lines on the night of September 7. The defendant, it is alleged, operating a motorcycle with a side car attached passed through the street at a rapid rate of speed and when told to hold up he refused to do so. He ran into Officer Grantz and as a result of the collision the officer suffered a broken leg.

Officer Grantz entered the court room this morning on a pair of crutches and owing to his condition was allowed to be seated while testifying. He admitted that he and Officer Small were overspeeding and at times the two

DEMOCRATS STILL IN CONTROL OF THE HOUSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—With the result in five districts still in doubt early today the returns in the congressional elections indicated that 215 democratic members of the house of representatives and 211 republican members have been elected, giving the democrats a plurality of four.

Two of the missing districts are normally democratic and three normally republican. Their adherence to their usual political affiliation therefore, would give the democrats 217 and the republicans 214 members or a democratic plurality of three. Not members of other parties have been elected to the house.

The districts from which the final result has not been received are four in West Virginia and the New Mexico district.

The senate, on the basis of the latest returns, will stand 54 democrats to 42 republicans, a democratic majority of 12.

JOHN H. COFFEY FOUND DEAD THIS MORNING

DEATH OF WELL KNOWN LOWELL
YOUNG MAN WAS DUE TO GAS POISONING

John H. Coffey, aged 29 years, son of Mrs. Annie T. Coffey and the late John H. Coffey, was found dead in the bathroom of his home, 155 Wilder street, this morning, death being due to accidental gas poisoning.

Mr. Coffey, who was employed in the Boston office of the Bay State Street Railway Co., arrived home late last evening and after partaking of a good meal and conversing a short time with members of the family, he retired. Later, however, he went to the bathroom, evidently for the purpose of taking a bath, for when he was found on the floor of the bathroom this morning he had on his bathrobe and the shower bath apparatus had been connected.

The maid early this morning detected an odor of gas and after an investigation found a leak in one of the gas jets in the bathroom and the finding of the body soon followed. Medical Examiner J. V. Meigs viewed the body and signed the death certificate "Accidental Gas Poisoning."

Deceased was born in this city and was a graduate of the Lowell high school, class '15. Besides his mother, he leaves to mourn his loss, a sister, Anna Coffey.

WILSON'S ELECTION IS NO LONGER DISPUTED

Only Question Now to be Determined is His Majority in the Electoral College — Electoral Vote Now, Wilson
276, Hughes 255

As announced exclusively in The Sun on Wednesday night, President Wilson has been re-elected, but now the only question to be determined is his majority in the electoral college. As the returns now stand Wilson has 276 electoral votes, while Hughes has 255. The Sun election experts announced yesterday that the probable electoral vote would be Wilson 278, Hughes 255. Now comes the returns from New Mexico, a state that was conditionally conceded to Hughes, showing that Wilson has won out there. Placing the three votes from this state in the Wilson column gives the present result.

While the official count is not yet on hand, the election of Wilson is not even now disputed by the republicans, who held out until this morning before admitting the defeat of their candidate.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCK LASTED HALF AN HOUR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A heavy earthquake lasting almost half an hour was recorded this morning on George town university seismographs. First tremors were recorded at 4:24 o'clock. The heaviest came at 4:31 and 4:32 a.m. and the disturbance ceased at 5:53 o'clock. Conservative estimates placed the distance at 2000 miles from Washington and it was thought the center might possibly be within the United States.

THE ELECTORAL VOTE ON LATEST RETURNS

Here is the electoral vote as it stands on present returns. In the states marked with a star the returns are incomplete and the electoral vote is based on the returns already counted and estimates of the balance.

The only difference between this table and that which we published yesterday is that the 3 votes of New Mexico are changed from the Hughes to the Wilson column, giving the president 276 instead of 273.

There are four states still, however, that have not yet sent in final returns, but the vote in these states is such that little or no change will result. With practically all precincts heard from Wilson is leading in California by 3160 votes. Wilson also has an insuperable lead in New Mexico. In Minnesota, Hughes is leading by 752 votes, and he holds a slight lead in West Virginia.

CALIFORNIA DECIDES ELECTION
NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Woodrow Wilson was elected president of the United States when California swung definitely into the democratic column early today.

The only states where the result remained in question today were Minnesota and West Virginia.

MAN WHO SHOT CAPT. BROSNAN WILL FACE SERIOUS CHARGE

Benjamin Buck, of Tewksbury, who terrorized the people in the vicinity of the Avery Chemical company in Tewksbury, yesterday afternoon, and who is now confined in St. John's hospital, will have to answer to three complaints of assault with intent to murder, when he is able to appear in court.

Chief Frank Farmer of Tewksbury, who took part in the gun play in order to capture Buck, yesterday afternoon, appeared before the clerk of the local court this morning, and swore out complaints against Buck for assault with intent to murder James Brosnan, James Considine and Clyde R. Aldrich.

Although Buck is confined to the hospital, the local police are not taking any chances of his escaping them, for from 1:30 o'clock this morning until 9:30 o'clock, Patrolmen Sharkey and Moloney stood guard over him and at 9:30 o'clock, they were relieved by Patrolman Burns and Maroney, who will stay by his bedside for eight hours after which two other officers will relieve them.

Supt. Redmond Welch paid a visit to the hospital this morning, and found that Capt. Brosnan was much improved. The most of the shots which entered his face, arms and body were removed yesterday, and although one of the shots was imbedded in the gum of his mouth, he suffers more pain from his arm and hand, especially one of the fingers of the hand in which several shots were imbedded.

Doliver Aldrich went to the hospital this morning, and after a number of shots were removed, an X-ray picture was taken and when it is developed, the doctors may be able to ascertain whether or not there are more shots in his leg.

Buck, who it was at first thought was fatally injured, is much improved and it is expected that he will be able to appear in court within a week. A number of shots was taken out of his body yesterday afternoon, and although he is reticent in his talk, he admits that he did the shooting and is sorry and said liquor was responsible.

BIG WILSON CELEBRATION IN LOWELL TOMORROW

The democratic city committee has made plans for the celebration of President Wilson's re-election in Lowell tomorrow evening in a way that shall recall the great political jubiliations of the past. There will be bands and red fire and speeches and cheers and a street parade, that promises to be the biggest event of the kind for many years. The members of the committee that is planning for the celebration say that Lowell will not find it difficult to remember the great triumph of President Wilson. Humphrey O'Sullivan and Cornelius Cronin of the democratic city committee went to Boston this morning to perfect plans.

The parade will form at the Middlesex street depot about 7:30 and will proceed through Middlesex street, Central and Prescott to Merrimack square where a rousing half-hour rally will be held. It will then continue up Merrimack, Moody and Cabot streets and back to city hall where an open air rally will be held if the weather is favorable. If not the rally will be held in Associate hall. The full list of speakers has not yet been decided, but the public is promised a rare treat.

There will be no attempt to make the parade a partisan triumph. The democrats of Lowell feel that in the election of an American president all party considerations should be swept aside and they extend a most cordial invitation to all Lowell citizens, whether republican, progressive, democratic or anything else to join with them in observing the victory of President Woodrow Wilson in a way worthy of the patriotic Lowell spirit of the past and present.

BOY BIT BY MAD DOG WANTS $5000

Mr. Leland testified that he is a woolen manufacturer with a home in Brookline and a farm in No. Andover. He said that the dog involved was owned by his minor son, John, but was kept on the farm in North Andover a part of the summer of 1914. As Mr. Leland was only on the farm evenings he did not see the dog very often and could not testify as to its nature. He said that his children petted it, but Mrs. Leland objected to having it on the premises. He had not seen the dog for several days before July 31, when it disappeared, and never saw it afterward. He did not know if it was licensed.

Harvard Professor
Dr. Frothingham, a former teacher at Harvard college, testified that he received a dog's head from Winchester on July 27, 1914. He examined it to see whether it showed any symptoms of rabies and found that it did. He said that the behavior of a dog suffering from the rabies varies with the form of the disease. Sometimes the dog's jaw becomes paralyzed immediately. Other times the symptoms are exactly opposite as the dog is furious and crazy. Under these conditions the dog bites at persons and objects in its path and finally becomes paralyzed.

In an effort to establish the identity of the dog that caused such a scare in a territory reaching from No. Andover to Winchester, the plaintiff had witnesses from all along the route to describe the appearance of the animal. John Lawlor, of North Andover, who knew the Leland dog, said that in July he saw the dog running in North Andover. He saw it bite at three other dogs along the roadside. He never saw the dog after the day of the occurrence described. Mrs. Sarah Corney of North Andover said that some time in the latter part of July, 1914, she saw some dogs fighting in the street. One was a good sized hound.

John H. Downing, Billerica, who was doing some tanning in North Billerica, saw a spotted hound dog attack a man on Wilson street in that village. William Costello, also of No. Billerica, saw a dog answering the description of the Leland dog running wild in Billerica.

SANTA FE ATTACKS THE ADAMSON ACT

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10.—A petition asking for an order enjoining the federal district attorney and "labor leaders" from putting the Adamson eight-hour bill into effect was filed in the federal district court of Kansas City, Kan., late yesterday in the name of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad.

The bill calls attention to agreements with train employees, none of which, it says, contemplate that the employee shall work a fixed number of hours, but, owing to the nature of train service, make the trip the basis of compensation.

The bill recites the circumstances surrounding the passage of the Adamson law and claims that it is a mere arbitrary increase in wages.

The law, the bill contends, is unconstitutional and void because it is not a regulation of interstate commerce; it is a mere expedient intended as a basis for further legislation, deprives the company of its liberty of contract and right of property without due process of law and is unworkable and uncertain.

Red fire, American flags, a band, bugle corps and Wilson and Marshall banners helped to develop enthusiasm. The paraders executed the snake dance and shouted themselves hoarse in front of places considered to be the headquarters of the opposition.

SPECIAL OFFERING

EXTRA PANTS FREE

Down in the heart of New York's financial district where I sell more custom clothing in one day than I do in Lowell in a week, I recently tried out the experiment of making to a business suit. The deluge came upon me from the working man, business man, banks and mercantile offices. This special offer was for one day and it took my force a week to cut up the orders. It is the decision of the people that makes a business big or little, so I submit my crowded store in Lowell too, as evidence that

I Am Doing the Largest Tailoring Business In Your City

What better proof can a man ask than to see a tailoring business grow bigger year after year—aye, even years after the novelty has worn off. And aren't you coming to me today in greater numbers than ever before? Haven't I proved, to your satisfaction, that Mitchell, the Tailor, does expect to sell you clothes year after year? Haven't I done things for you to get you back the next time that were never done before in Lowell by any other concern without making charge for the service?

AND LAST BUT NOT LEAST, when I advertised a thing $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 or $18.00, didn't you always find that I stood ready to take your order at the advertised price without any ifs, ands or buts?

As I said before, tailoring is a hard game. I have seen all the imitators shoot across the skies and—spifficate, Boston didn't spifficate, New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Providence, Hartford, Worcester, Springfield or Buffalo, didn't spifficate. Lowell today is doing the biggest business in its history, because I give the people the best for their money that ready cash can buy.

MADE RECORD YEAR

Savings Bank Life Insurance Shows a Premium Income of More Than $200,000

It was prophesied by the supporters of Savings Bank Life Insurance that the year 1916 would show a premium income of $200,000. That prophecy has been more than fulfilled. The premium income of the four insurance banks not only reached the $200,000 mark, but exceeded it by more than $13,000.

This makes a total premium income for the eight years since the plan was put into operation of $904,000. It is interesting to note, as evidence of the great conservatism of the management,—that of this sum, seventy-five per cent. still remains in the banks and with the general insurance guaranty fund reserved for the benefit of the policyholders.

The cancelled business for the year amounted to $151,477, so that the net gain for the year is $1,893,634. The number of policies now in force exceeds fourteen thousand, representing more than six million dollars of insurance.

When it is remembered that in the savings bank system no policy can be issued for a larger amount than $1,000, and that most of the policies are for $500 and lesser amounts, it is obvious that this unique system is making excellent headway in the confidence of the people for whose benefit it was established.

Full information and rates may be had by applying at or writing to Savings Bank Life Insurance, 507 State House, Boston.

half with about 400 couples in attendance. The Miher-Doyle orchestra furnished music for the evening and dancing was enjoyed till a seasonable hour. The officers responsible for the success of the evening were as follows:

General manager, Alex Johnston; assistant general manager, Frank Purcell; floor director, Alban Greenleaf; assistant floor director, William Ryan; chief aid, Arthur Purcell; treasurer, Alphonse Levasseur.

THE RURAL SCHOOL TERM

School attendance is of first consideration in a discussion of the rural school term. According to the state superintendent of public instruction of Louisiana, the Honorable T. H. Harris, a rural school term of six months with an average daily attendance of 100 per cent. is a longer and a better and a cheaper school term than a nine-month term with an average daily attendance of only 65 to 75 per cent. The United States commissioner of education agrees with the premise laid down by Superintendent Harris. Every agency should be used to improve rural school attendance before taxpayers are asked to bear the burden of increased taxation for a poorer school term wherever poor attendance is tolerated. Georgia is the latest state to enact a compulsory school attendance law. Such an act was passed by the Georgia legislature and approved by Governor Harris August 15, 1916.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

Today and tomorrow are the last chances for the theatregoers of this city to see "The Story of the Rosary," Walter Edwards' great drama of love and war which has been playing to crowded houses all the week and which is the finest offering that Lowell has seen in many years. There are some good scenes left for the remaining four performances despite the heavy advance sale of seats and patrons should make reservations early. Seats can be secured by patronizing the matinee held until 1:15 and 7:15 o'clock excepting for the Saturday performances, when matinee reservations will be held until noon and tickets for the evening held until 4 in the afternoon.

"The Story of the Rosary" is a whole of a play. It is a magnificent success and its presentation by the Emerson Players is beautiful. Ivan Miller is scoring a tremendous hit, while Harriet Duke is seen at her best and Millaud Vincent, Anna Horton, James J. Galloway, Frank Wright, Ernest West, Ed Baker, Gertrude Shirley, Gladys McLeod, Ben Hatfield, Rose Morrison and other members of the company appear in splendid characters and a superb scenic production is offered with all new and special effects and it is the most pretentious that Lowell has ever seen.

You cannot afford to delay in ordering your seats for this attraction because if you miss it your failure will count as one of your biggest disappointments of the season. Phone 261 now. Don't hesitate.

Sunday afternoon and night at the Opera House, splendid program of vaudeville and picture features will be offered the management having secured five big acts and as many reels of the newest and best releases in photoplays. The American Trio, a classy singing and talking act, is sure to make a tremendous hit, while Kelly and Currier in a splendid program of act is another sure-fire hit. There are three other big acts, making up a bill that will outshine any Sunday program offered in this city. There are just two performances, the matinee starting at 2:15 and the evening performance at 7:30 o'clock. The prices charged are 10, 15 and 25 cents.

Next week a special arrangement with Mr. Frederic McKay, the Emerson Players will present "Broadway and Buttermilk," a brilliant Broadway suc-

JACKSON, MISS. MAN

Tells How To Cure Chronic Cough Jackson, Miss.—"I am a carpenter, and the gripe left me with a chronic cough, run-down, worn out and weak. I took all kinds of cough syrups without help. I read about Vinol and decided to try it. Before I had taken a bottle I felt better, and after taking two bottles my cough is entirely cured, and I have gained new vim and energy."—John L. Dennis.

Vinol is guaranteed for coughs, colds and bronchitis and for all weak, run-down conditions. Liggett's Drug Store, Baker-James Drug Store, Lowell Pharmacy, Souther & DeWitt, Phelps & Fells & Burkinshaw, Lowell, also at the leading drug store in all Massachusetts towns.

cess which is now being played in all the big cities by Blanche Ring at two dollar prices. This is a comedy drama of rural life, the scenes of the play being laid in Maine and it was written by Willard Mack, author of "Kick In," "In Wyoming," "So Much for So Much," and other big American successes. It should prove the banner attraction of the season.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE

Comedy, with hitting music, is the feature of this week's bill at the B. F. Keith Theatre. Roger Gray & Co. have put over fun in a peppery manner and lots of jingling music, while "Toby" Bailey and company interweave music with delicious comedy situations. And McIntosh and his musical maids furnish not only one of the most precious of acts but give delightful melodies. Added to these four top-line attractions, are the Miranos, the whirling aerial torpedoes, in one of the most novel of acts. Sidney & Towler, sing and dance, and the Larned's display on cycles. Arthur Higby is a miniature black face man. Yesterday the new Pathe News motion pictures were shown for the first time. They were exceptionally good. Seats may be secured in advance for the remaining performances. Phone 25.

MERRIMACK SQUARE

Louise Huff and Jack Pickford, co-stars in the five act drama, "Seventeen," an interesting play which marks the older patrons of this theatre back to the youthful days and youthful dreams of when they were seventeen. In the play the young hero "barrows" his father's clothes. He is a close with the maid of his heart. The play is true to life in every detail and portrays the hopes, ambitions and dreams of youth in a most pleasing manner. This picture will be shown at the Merrimack Square theatre today and tomorrow, as well as the five act play, "The Scarlet Oath," a new drama of Russia which features the popular Gail Kane. The Burton Holmes pictures and a comedy will also be presented at the same performances. Mary Pickford is coming to this theatre next week in her first "own play," "Less Than the Dust."

WITH HER OWN COMPANY

A brand new characterization is promised by Mary Pickford when she comes to the Merrimack Square theatre presented by the Artcraft Pictures Corporation in "Less Than the Dust." Hector Turnbull, author of many photoplays, has been made the story for Mary Pickford after reading Laurence Hope's poem, which bears the same name as the new master production in which the famous star will be seen. He has made his heroine a little English eastaway, whom misfortune takes to India, where the superstitious natives regard her as "less than the dust" beneath their feet.

The contrast between the conservative splendor of the English setting of the story and the picturesque atmosphere of modern India is realistically brought out by the costly production and notable supporting company of players which have been made and associated with Mary Pickford. Among the more prominent of the cast of nearly fifty principals are David Powell, Frank Losee, Mary Allen, Marie Majeroni, Cesare Gravina and Mercia Edmonds. The enterprise of Manager Nelson of the Merrimack Square theatre in obtaining at great expense this series of the new Mary Pickford productions from Artcraft is sure to be rewarded with unusually large business during the engagement of "Less Than the Dust."

"Less Than the Dust" will be shown every day next week at 2:15, 4:30, 6:30 and 8:30. In spite of the cost of booking this famous star in her greatest picture of all, the prices of admission will be 15 and 20 cents, no seats reserved.

ROYAL THEATRE

The topic dealt with in "The Yellow Menace" which is the underlined feature serial every Friday and Saturday at the Royal Theatre, is easily the most important submitted to public notice in the United States during the present generation. In a nutshell, it is the case of preparedness against the so-called Yellow Peril, which at different times has seemed quite important. All Singh, the principal character role, played by Edwin Stevens, a sterling actor of the old school, represents what a slusher would be world emperor might cause, in trouble and horror. The role is cleverly enacted and is worthy of special mention. The eleventh episode is entitled "The Half-Blooded Hero" and tells of an ally of All Singh who turns traitor because of cruelties he has suffered through his master. The events come with swift precision and there is a good deal of "punch" throughout the entire episode. The eleventh episode of "Liberty" another preparedness serial, with Mexican surroundings, will also be shown. Starred are Marie Walcamp, Eddie Polo and Jack Holt, a well-known Universal trio. Other fine releases will complete a fine performance for the two remaining days of this week.

Coming Sunday, a modernized fairy tale in four acts. Monday and Tuesday, Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "A Million in a Minute."

OWL THEATRE

There is a distinctly new note struck in the photoplay, "A Daughter of the Sea," the feature attraction at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow. It reveals, among other things, the high quality of the artistic achievements of Muriel Ostriche, the fairy star of the production, a peculiarly fitting series of settings for the outdoor scenes of a remarkably interesting story, and in the plot itself a logical development of an idea which lends itself admirably to revelation on the screen. The scene at the fishing village, the blowing up of the yacht, and the assumption by the heroine of the responsibility for a murder to save the sister of the boy she loves, are only a few of the striking features of this wonderful production.

The charming personality of the star in addition to the dramatic ability and displays, lends itself admirably to the plot of the piece as well as to the characterization of the incidents and she is ably supported by some of the Equitable's most valued character artists. The story of the play as it is unfolded on the screen is one of absorbing interest, the difference in life between wealth and poverty, and the wiping up of that difference by the power of love and self-sacrifice of the heroine, the final adjustment of the differences and difficulties, and the exquisite photoplay, all combine to make "A Daughter of the Sea" a gem which will shine far brighter than the average of even high class features.

KEEPS HER CHILDREN IN PERFECT HEALTH

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the Family Laxative for Many Years

Mrs. Aug. Doellefeld of Carlyle, Ill. recently wrote to Dr. Caldwell, at Monticello, Ill., that she has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in her home for a number of years, and would not be without it, as with it she has been able to keep her four children in perfect health.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts on the bowels in an easy, natural way, and regulates the action of this most important function. Nearly all the sickness to which children are subject is traceable to bowel inaction, and a mild, dependable laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should have a place in every family medicine chest. It is pleasant to the taste and children like it, and take it readily, while it is equally effective for adults.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 435 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

STEAMER HITS ROCK AND SINKS IN CAPE COD CANAL

BUZZARDS BAY, Nov. 10.—The steamer Chippewa of the Clyde line, bound from Jacksonville, Fla., for Boston, struck a rock at the entrance of the Cape Cod canal early today and sank. Capt. Magee and his crew of 25 men reached shore safely.

The Chippewa of 2600 gross tonnage left Jacksonville on Nov. 4. She went aground near Jacksonville, but was floated and proceeded and touched at Charleston, S. C., on Nov. 6. She was built in 1905.

The canal passage was not blocked by the steamer. She lies in 20 feet of water on the southeast side of the canal.

Observers on shore said that the accident happened while the Chippewa was turning to make way for the steamer Henry M. Whitney, bound from New York for Boston. There was only one pilot available and he went aboard the Whitney. The Chippewa, maneuvering about the canal entrance struck the rock which opened her bow and she sank almost immediately.

Her upper decks and masts were above the surface. The cargo of lumber, cotton, fruit and vegetables was partly released by the invading waters and people ashore gathered a harvest of provisions on the beach this morning.

Mariners here believed there were good prospects of saving the steamer. Arrangements were made to have a sailing outfit brought from Boston and it is expected efforts to float the steamer will begin at once. A great hole torn in the Chippewa's bottom was said to be the only damage, lack of heavy seas saving the vessel from pounding and consequent extensive damage. The Chippewa and her cargo were said to be fully insured.

RUSSIANS FIGHTING FOR FAMOUS BRIDGE

The campaign in Dobruja entered a new phase today, with the Russians reported within two miles of Tcheravoda and fighting for the famous bridge across the Danube there.

This bridge, the only link of the kind between Dobruja and interior Rumania, was abandoned by the Russo-Rumanian army after its defeat last month by Field Marshal von Mackensen. After pursuing his beaten foe far to the north in Dobruja, von Mackensen apparently met vigorous resistance and within the last few days has been reported falling back.

The position of the Russian advance guard yesterday was indicated as not more than a dozen miles north of the Constantza-Tcheravoda railroad line, which crosses the Tcheravoda bridge and which, with the bridge itself, was the most important fruit of the Teutonic victory.

Recent reports have shown Gen. von Falkenhayn gaining advantages in the vigorous drive he has been making at Rumania from the Transylvanian front and today Petrograd admits a Rumanian retirement of more than two and a half miles west of the Buzeti valley on the northwestern Rumanian front. Near Predel, however, the Rumanians took the offensive in an enveloping movement on the Teutonic left flank. Heavy fighting is still in progress here and elsewhere in this war area.

In northern France there has been notable artillery activity in the Semmes region. Scouting operations by airplanes, probably in preparation for infantry movements, also assumed an important scope, according to indications in the Paris report. This announces French machines engaged in 77 fights in which three hostile aircraft were brought down, while seven fell within the German lines on the Somme.

RUSSIANS COMPELLED TO FALL BACK IN VOL-HYNIA

PETROGRAD, Nov. 10, via London, 140 p. m.—A violent attack on Russian positions in the Stokhod region of Volhynia was made yesterday by Austro-German forces. The war office announces that after repelling several onslaughts the Russians were compelled to fall back to their second line.

ARTILLERY ACTIVITY ON BOTH BANKS OF THE DANUBE

LONDON, Nov. 10.—"During the night there was considerable artillery activity on both banks of the Danube where the enemy used a large number of gas shells," says today's official account of operations on the Franco-Belgian front.

"Northward of Festubert hostile trench mortars were silenced by our artillery and trench mortars."

CROWDS CHEER PRES. AND MRS. WILSON

ARRIVED AT RHINECLIFF, N. Y., ON WAY TO WILLIAMSTOWN, MASS.

RHINECLIFF, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The naval yacht Mayflower, with President Wilson and Mrs. Wilson on board, on their way to Williamstown, Mass., arrived off Rhinecliff early today, after an uneventful trip up the Hudson river.

The Mayflower anchored off Rhinecliff before daylight, but the president did not come ashore until 9:30 o'clock to take his train for Williamstown, where he goes to act as godfather at the christening of the second child of his daughter, Mrs. F. B. Sayre.

Thronged lined the river bank, many carrying American flags, and when the Mayflower's launch, carrying the president and Mrs. Wilson, was seen to put off from the yacht, the crowd rushed excitedly toward the landing to greet them.

The president's face was wreathed in smiles. He had received by wireless the word that he had been elected. He raised his hat and waved it to the crowd as he and Mrs. Wilson set out on foot to the railroad station nearby.

The secret service men guarding the president had difficulty in making a way through the crowd which accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Wilson. As the train pulled out, the executive stood on the observation platform and waved his hand to the cheering people.

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

If the spirits of the illustrious dead participate in the concerns and cares of this transitory life, then somewhere high above us, in the spirit world today, the dear and venerated shade of old Marcellus H. Fletcher, an ancient war horse of the Lowell democracy in days gone by, is tossing his halo high over his head and perchance is doing an ethereal one-step with "Little Bright Eyes" seated on a gold-rimmed cloud nearby playing a harp accompaniment, as the dream of his life has been realized—for Belvidere has gone democratic and has gone for good, and all time.

The old timers will readily recall old "Cellus" Fletcher, who knew every democrat in Lowell, and for whom he had two original and well known classifications, and that the young men may know, I'll state that he was the war-horse of the local democracy for many years; the great organizer and hustler and man of all work and never asked a cent for his services, nor received it. For many years Marcellus resided in Church street opposite the First Baptist church and in those days there were six wards in Lowell, Belvidere and the section in which Marcellus resided being in ward 6. Ward 1 and 3 were democratic, 4 and 5 safely republican, while 6 was slightly republican. It was the ambition of Marcellus and his accepted life work, to make ward 6 democratic and to gain his end he attempted to colonize it, and to colonize it legitimately, he spent plenty of time on his hands he went around the ward until he became acquainted with every lodging house and the price of rooms, and he knew when and where there were empty tenements in the ward and the rent thereof. Then he went among the unmarried democrats who were living in the hopelessly republican wards and to some of the safely democratic sections, urging them to change their residences and room in ward 6, and he succeeded in getting quite a number of them to do so. If any young democrat intended to marry and Marcellus heard about the happy event before the young couple had decided where to locate, he would be after them to expiate upon the advantages of a little home in Belvidere, "soon to be a democratic ward," as "Cellus" would always assure them.

They began to colonize and pretty soon the democrats elected one member to the common council and then two, and then three and the republicans became alarmed. Finally, in 1855, I believe, it looked so good for the democrats in the coming city election, after the vote recorded by the ward in the previous state election that the republicans becoming desperate decided to save the common council at all costs and prevailed upon some republican mayors of Lowell to run as candidates for the common council, to preserve the reputation of Belvidere as a republican stronghold, and the candidates were ex-Mayors Greenhalve, Scott, Richardson and Kelson, for the four councilmen elected from each ward.

The joy of Marcellus knew no bounds when on the night of the city election it was announced that ward 6 had elected as members of the common council, Lawrence J. Smith, Thaddeus S. Cobb, J. Frank Page and Michael F. Clark, all democrats, and the four ex-mayors, the Big Four, as they were called, had gone down in defeat.

From that time on, ward 6 became known as a democratic ward, but in later years, 1855, I believe the city was re-districted into nine wards and the republican legislature which did the job made it certain that Belvidere was returned to the republican ranks.

But Marcellus charged the change up to the fortunes of war and remarked: "There's plenty of young democrats who can live as happily in Belvidere as anywhere else and we'll make Belvidere democratic once, more, by hook!" But Marcellus passed away while his old ward was still in the republican ranks and thus when it was announced on Tuesday night in the election room at city hall, that the old ward was once more safely democratic, John C. King cried out to George Pearson of the election department, an old friend of Mr. Fletcher, and "a believed." "Hey, George, call up Marcellus in the spirit land and tell him that ward 6 has gone democratic once more!" The dream of his life has been realized.

WOMEN'S PARTY IN DESPAIR OVER THE ELECTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Despair lay heavy over the headquarters of the Woman's party yesterday, at 11 East Forty-first street. This is the organization which set out to enflame the western women voters against President Wilson because of his failure to endorse federal woman suffrage.

The returns from the western states show with almost brutal frankness that the women voters did not respond to the suffrage call.

Miss Kathleen Taylor, who conducted the campaign against the democrats in Kansas, returned to headquarters yesterday afternoon, tired out, but making a brave attempt to find the silver lining.

"We did what we set out to do," she declared. "We scared the politicians. We taught them that the women's vote was an important factor in the election."

"What's the matter with those western women? Why didn't they stand up for suffrage?" Miss Taylor's friends demanded.

"It kept us out of war," she responded dolefully. "That was the only thing those women would listen to. I told the republican campaign managers in Kansas that that slogan was going to swing the women's vote, and they only laughed and said 'nonsense, the women of Kansas could be counted on to vote as the men did, and it was a safe republican state.' So they wouldn't give me any helpers."

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, who campaigned in Colorado, is expected home today. She stopped off in Topeka, Kan., long enough to cast a vote on election day, and will now be able to tell her envious New York sisters just how it felt. There was talk Wednesday morning of a luncheon in honor of Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Woman's party, and her helpers, but something happened to that luncheon when the late returns came in. No one had anything to say about it today.

MINERAL DEPOSITS IN NEVADA

Twenty-nine mining districts in eastern Nevada are described in a report recently issued by the U. S. Geological Survey, department of the Interior, as Bulletin 645, "Notes on Some Mining Districts in Eastern Nevada," by J. M. Hill. These districts are widely scattered through an area extending from the northern part of the state to the extreme southern part, in southeastern Clark county. Not much has heretofore been known about the geologic features of the ore deposits in these districts, because they are relatively inaccessible or undeveloped.

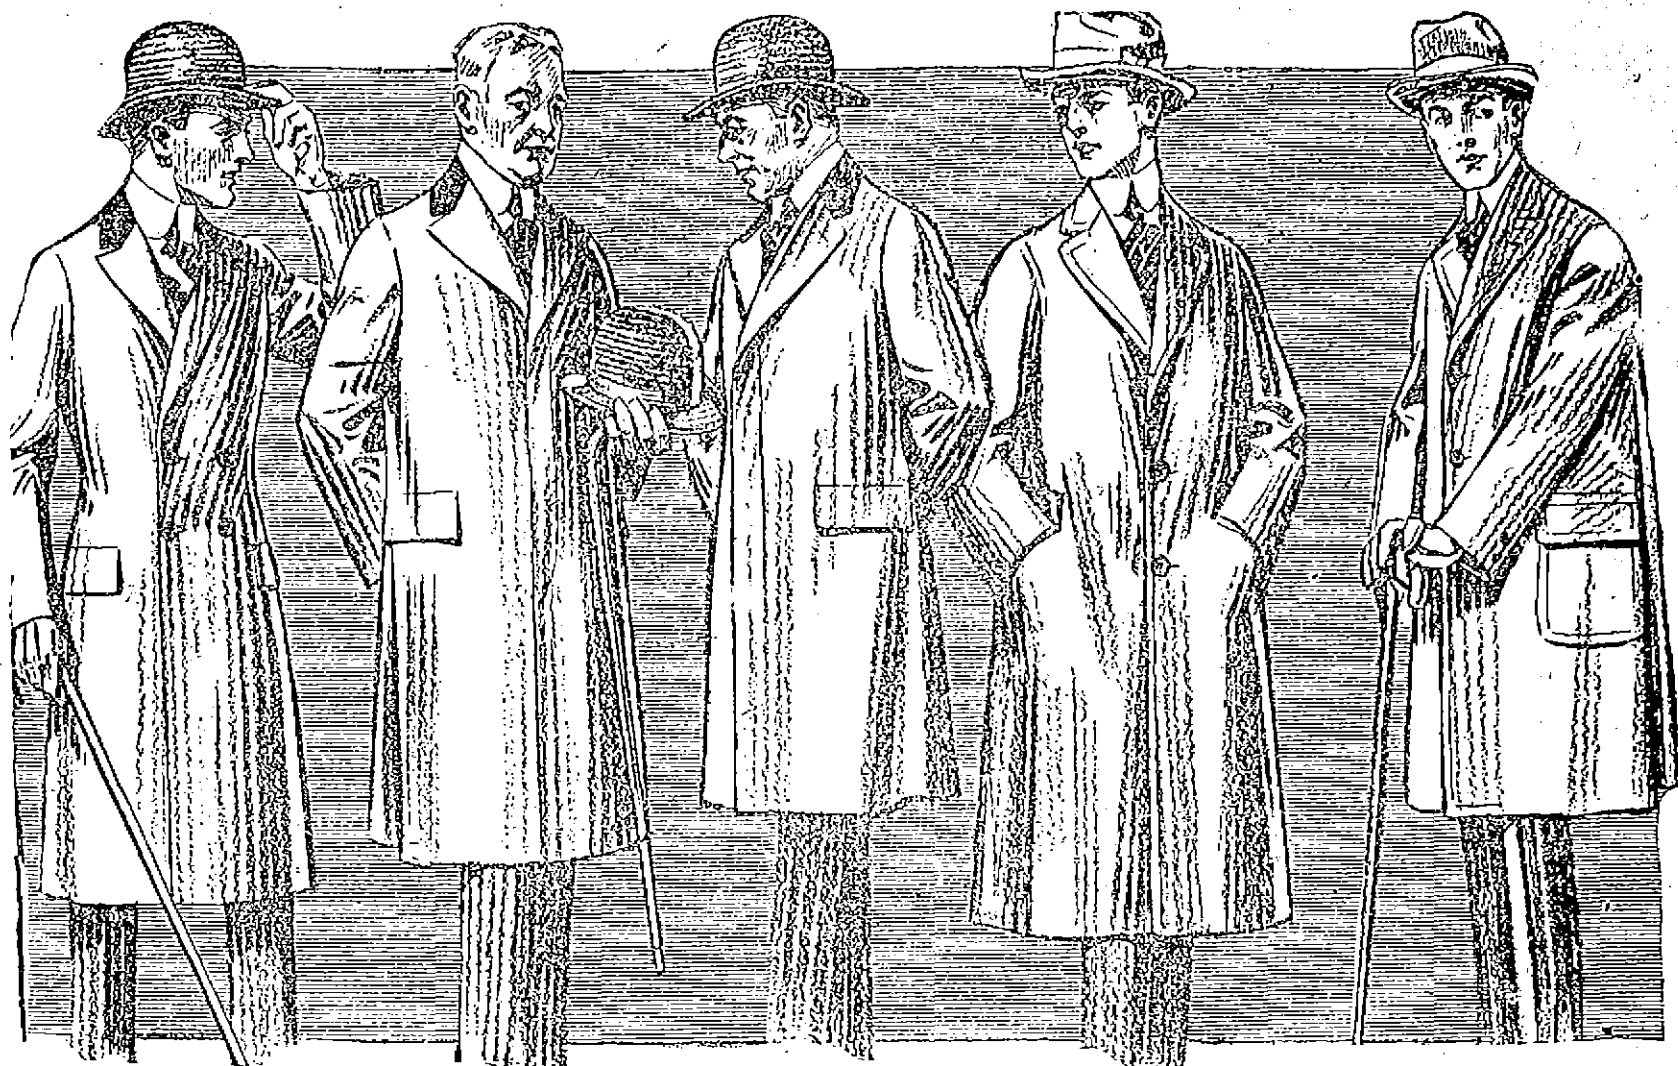

Silver, lead, copper and gold are the principal valuable metals found, but tungsten and bismuth also are known to occur. Many of the deposits were found in the early sixties, when the rich oxidized ores were worked, but others have since been discovered from time to time, valuable ore bodies having been found as recently as 1911.

According to this report most of the ore deposits occur in sedimentary rocks that border intrusions of granites or porphyries. Gold and silver are found in Tertiary volcanic rocks of other parts of Nevada, but only one deposit of precious metal—a free milling gold ore—has so far been found in such rocks in this region.

The report is chiefly a record of facts, most of which are of local and practical interest. It is intended as a guide to those who wish to know something of the geologic occurrence, character and stage of mining development of the ore deposits in the districts examined.

77 AERIAL COMBATS FOUGHT YESTERDAY

FOKKER AND NINE OTHER GERMAN AEROPLANES BROUGHT DOWN

There was intermittent artillery fighting on various sections of the front and also infantry skirmishing.

SAY WAR ALREADY WON BY THE ALLIES

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Two optimistic views of the war from the point of view of the allies are given a prominent place in the morning newspapers.

The first is a quotation from the speech made at the lord mayor's banquet last night by Field Marshal Viscount French. The field marshal said:

"It seems that the contest is approaching a climax, to come either now or in the spring. We must remember, however, that a climax and an end are not necessarily the same thing."

The second opinion was expressed by Gen. Alexis Brusilov, who, speaking to a British correspondent at Russian headquarters, said:

"The war is won today. It is merely a question of speculation as to how much longer it will be before the enemy is convinced that their cause is irretrievably lost."

The general added that he spoke with authority in declaring that the whole of Russia, from the emperor to the humblest soldier, was determined to protect, help and support Rumania in every possible way.

"Russia will see," he said, "that our brave little ally does not suffer for espousing the cause of the allies."

was hurt and he was in bed several days, they said.

The boy himself was again called to the stand and asked to show the jury which eye was hurt. He said as far as he could remember it was his right, and his attorney, John L. Sheehan, then made him stand close to the jury box and exhibit that eye to the jury. The trial will be continued this morning.

FIRE TESTS OF ALL KINDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Fire tests of all kinds of building walls and partitions, which are expected to have an important bearing on all fire-resisting building construction, have been arranged by the United States bureau of standards. They will be carried out with a newly installed panel furnace recently constructed at the bureau's laboratories here, which is the most complete and largest plant for such work ever built. Details of the tests, such as types and dimensions of partitions, temperature to which they are to be exposed, time of exposure to fire, the water test to which the heated partitions should be subjected and other regulations, have been worked out by a committee representing the American Institute of Architects, the American Society for Testing Materials, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the Associated Metal Lath Manufacturers, the Gypsum Industries association, the National Brick Manufacturers association, the Association of American Portland Cement manufacturers, the Fire Underwriters' laboratories, the American Concrete Institute, the National Fire Protection association and the National Lime Manufacturers association.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL HAS SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of the municipal council was held this morning at 10.35 with Commissioner Duncan presiding in the absence of Mayor O'Donnell, who is confined to his home by illness. Some important matters that were to have been acted on were postponed until the mayor is able to be present, and it is hoped that he will be able to preside at the next meeting.

The Bay State dye house petitioned for a gasoline license on Howe street; Charles A. Cote petitioned for a gasoline license on Coral street; Charles M. Cunningham petitioned for a garage and gasoline license on Nesmith street. Hearings on the three petitions will be given Nov. 28.

A communication was received from the park commission asking for a transfer of $100 from the appropriation for parks to the appropriation for the care of trees. Commissioner Duncan suggested that Mr. Donnelly bring in an order to this effect at the next meeting, and he signified his willingness to do so.

John O'Brien sent a supplementary notice of claim for personal injuries received on Oct. 9 on Highland street when he fell over the root of a tree, and it was referred to the city solicitor.

A communication was read from the park commission protesting against the dumping of snow and street refuse on the fringes of the parks and commons during the winter months. The latter stated that the practice is injurious to the parks and is a bad influence on the community. The matter was referred to Commissioner Morse.

Commissioner Donnelly stated that he had meant to bring before the meeting the bids for the construction of the contagious hospital, but as it comes directly under the mayor's direction he thought action should not be taken until the mayor is present. Commissioner Putnam suggested that, in case the mayor is absent at the next meeting the commissioner should ascertain his views so that action may be taken without unnecessary delay. The meeting adjourned until next Tuesday at 10 a. m. Subsequently there was a meeting for the approval of bills.

SAYS GERMANY IS CERTAIN OF FINAL VICTORY

AMSTERDAM, via London, Nov. 10.—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, in his speech before the reichstag committee yesterday expressed the conviction that Germany was certain of final victory according to reports of the session published here. The chancellor is quoted as saying: "England and France in 1915 guaranteed to Russia territorial rule over Constantinople, the Bosphorus and the western shores of the Dardanelles with its hinterland, while Asia Minor was to be divided among the members of the entente. The annexation intentions of our enemies also include Alsace-Lorraine, which the League of Peace is to guarantee them. Such a policy of course cannot form a basis for an effective peace union. Germany is ready at all times to join a union of the peoples and even to place herself at the head of such a union to restrain a disturber of the peace. Not in the shadow of Prussian militarism did the world live before the war, but in the shadow of a policy of isolation which was to keep Germany down.

"Against this policy, whether it appears diplomatically as an encirclement, militarily as a war of destruction, or economically as a world boycott, we, from the beginning, were on the defensive. The German people wage this war as a defensive war for the safety of its national existence, for its free development. We never pretended anything else, never intended anything else. Not otherwise can be explained this display of gigantic force, this inexhaustible heroism unexampled in all human history.

"The enemy obstinately wills to war with the calling up of military material and auxiliary forces from all parts of the world. These efforts harden our resistance to still greater determination.

Whatever England can still bring up of strength—and England's command of strength has its limits—it is predestined to fall before our will to live. This will is unconquerable, and we await the enemy's recognition of this, confident that this recognition must come."

LOWELL BOY BACK FROM THE WAR ZONE

Joseph Leo Rousseau, 19 years old and residing in Cumberland road, this city, is home again after serving over a year in the British army and navy in the great European war. The young man is grateful to Congressman Rogers, to whom he owes his release.

Young Rousseau enlisted in the British army a little over a year ago, leaving a dependent mother in this city. Shortly after his enlistment his mother sought the services of Congressman Rogers to have her boy returned to her for she claimed he enlisted while a minor and that he was an American subject, having been born in this city. The matter was taken up by the congressman with the state department authorities at Washington and carried as far as the British admiralty.

It meant some work on the part of Congressman Rogers to obtain the boy's release, for what is known as dual citizenship was involved, that is the boy was born in the United States but of Canadian parents and accordingly, England claimed him as one of her subjects. A couple of weeks ago, while Congressman Rogers was still endeavoring to obtain the boy's release, Rousseau sent a letter to Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humann society, asking him to do all in his power to have the boy returned to the states. By the time Mr. Richardson received the letter, however, Rousseau had been released and was on his way to his native city.

Rousseau has seen service in the King's Royal Heavy artillery and was once wounded in the leg by flying pieces of a chrapnel. Later, after recuperating from his injuries, he was transferred to the navy and sent aboard the battleship "Queen Elizabeth" to the Dardanelles, where he saw heavy fighting. The young man is enjoying good health. He says he will never return to the front and he advises the rovingly inclined to remain at home.

HUMPHREY O'SULLIVAN COMMENDS THE SUN

The Sun's announcement of President Wilson's election on Wednesday caused considerable controversy among the politicians around town yesterday and last night. Some maintained that The Sun had no authority for its early decision that Wilson was elected; but the real dopesters realized how the conclusion was worked out from the percentage of Wilson's lead in the western states. An advertising man who peruses a large number of newspapers says The Sun, so far as he knows, was the first paper in the country to make a positive announcement of Wilson's election. Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan shares the same view.

Speaking of Wilson's election and The Sun's campaign work Mr. O'Sullivan said:

"The re-election of President Wilson was a great blessing for the country. It assures a sound, healthy expansion of American business and gives a reasonable hope for a continuation of peace and prosperity. I tender my compliments to The Lowell Sun, its proprietor and its editors for their splendid assistance throughout the campaign."

ROBERT WANTS RECOUNT
BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Petitions asking for a recount of the vote cast for congressman in the ninth district have been filed in Chelsea, and others will be filed in all the other cities and towns in the district.

The returns gave the election to Evan T. Fuller against Congressman

Ernest W. Roberts by 321 plurality. Stories that figures have been given to Fuller in at least two of the cities in the district that should have been given to Roberts are in circulation.

If Too Fat Get More Fresh Air

BE MODERATE IN YOUR DIET
AND REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT.
TAKE OIL OF KOREIN.

Lack of fresh air, it is said, weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates and the action of many of the vital organs is hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed. Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off, a serious case of obesity may result.

When you feel that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat. Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air, breathe deeply, and get from any druggist a box of oil of Korean capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Wash yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of Korean is absolutely harmless and does not irritate the digestion and even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight. A. W. Davis & Co. can supply you.

NEW YORK STRIKERS INDICTED YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Five former employees of the Interborough Rapid Transit company were indicted by a general session court grand jury yesterday in connection with the alleged plots to dynamite property of the corporation. They were arrested last week by detectives who investigated the explosion which wrecked the platform of a Lenox avenue subway station, injuring four persons, in October.

The defendants, who are under $20,000 bond each, are Lawrence Kubla, George Pollak and James J. Murna, subway guards until the strike began in September, and Michael Herlihy and Benjamin S. Hamilton, former elevated guards.

Indicted with them today were Thomas J. Maguire of Caldwell, N.J.,

a chauffeur, and a seventh man whose identity was not made public. Officers of a local branch of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railroad employees were ordered to turn over to the district attorney the local records, in connection with police statements that some of the union's funds were used to purchase dynamite.

PLAN REVISION OF CAR SERVICE RULES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 10.—That a revision of the car service rules of the country's railroads is under consideration was brought out in the testimony of George Hodges, chairman of the car service commission of the American Railway Association, one of the last witnesses to appear today at the hearings being held here in connection with an investigation by the interstate commerce commission into the exchange and return of freight cars.

Revision designed to correct certain abuses, had already been prepared, he said, and would be placed before a meeting of the American Railway Association Nov. 15 at Denver.

The primary cause of the existing car shortage, Mr. Hodges declared to be the unusual volume of export shipments, coupled with the irregularity of steamship arrivals, resulting in the holding of cars for long periods at seaports.

The testimony of shippers was completed this morning. It dealt largely with the serious conditions by which they declared, industrial and public service plants are faced, as a result of their inability to get sufficient supplies of coal.

EMPLOYMENT PROBLEMS AND HOW TO SOLVE THEM

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Of particular interest to those concerned with the various phases of employment problems in this country are the proceedings of the conference of the Employment Managers' association of Boston, held May 14, 1916, which appear in bulletin 292 recently issued by the United States bureau of labor statistics. The purpose of this conference was to bring together those actively engaged in the work of employment management in order to effect an interchange of ideas and experience.

Attending the conference were representatives from nine states, principally the New England states, which comprise the territory of the Boston association. Throughout the conference it was apparent that the personnel problems were considered as of much importance as problems affecting sales, finances and production, and as deserving of the expert attention of a competent executive having sufficient authority and enjoying the confidence of the management.

In an informal address, Elbert Stewart, chief statistician of the United States bureau of labor statistics, called attention to the lack of uniformity in methods of keeping records of labor turnover and urged the importance of employment departments knowing why men quit in order that methods may be adopted to check the turnover, stabilize the labor force and reduce to a minimum the annoyance and expense of hiring and firing men. As to the sources of supply of labor and means of getting in touch with them, it was brought out in a paper on this subject that workers may be secured from among the friends and relatives of those already on the payroll, from competitive firms, through employment agencies, through charitable institutions and from those formerly employed in the plant.

In the matter of selection, examination, training and development of employees, it was suggested that in choosing applicants consideration should be given to physical qualifications, adaptation, mental attitude toward the job, honesty, industry, intelligence, health, neatness, cleanliness and temperance; that job analysis is essential; that psychological tests are valuable in the selection of employees, especially for the high-grade positions; that workers should be trained in the plant through the medium of apprenticeship classes and then promoted to better positions, thus encouraging efficient effort.

The questions of transfer from one department to another and of discharge were suggested as very important in affecting the labor turnover. Emphasis was laid upon the relationship between employer and employee, which should be such as to avoid all chances of dissatisfaction and discord which make it difficult for the firm to handle the workers. The education of employees in the plant was regarded as of greater importance than original selection.

Methods for improving the efficiency and quality of personnel were given consideration. To secure this result courtesy should be shown to employees; they should be selected and examined expeditiously; an eligible list should be kept; quits, discharges and transfers should be analyzed and careful oversight maintained of all employees at work and at home; promotions within the ranks, pensions, working conditions and welfare work should all receive careful attention.

The impossibility of a superintendent giving proper attention to hiring and "firing" employees was recognized, and to avoid the economic loss due to promiscuous employment methods the functionalized employment department has been established, its duties being to secure applicants, weed out the undesirable and select those fitted for the work to be done, to maintain complete record of each employee, to act as a clearing house for the transfer and promotion of employees, to make regular reports to the management and to make such studies, reports and recommendations as may be required for the interests of the concern.

WALL STREET ACCEPTS ELECTION AS SETTLED

AN UNMISTAKABLE TURN AWAY FROM POLITICAL INFLUENCE MANIFESTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—An unmistakable turn away from political influences was manifested by today's stock market. Wall street evidently accepted the national election as a settled fact and proceeded with the bullish enthusiasm of recent days.

There were some nominal declines at the opening, but these were more than counterbalanced by the strength of various specialties, some of which rose to unprecedented prices. Chief among these were Central Leather, which advanced 3½ points to 122½, making a gain of 20 points thus far this week. International Paper which rose over 5 points to 74, Lackawanna Steel 2 points to 57, and American Writing Paper 4½ points to 59½.

Gains of 2 to 4 points occurred in other leading issues, including Cuban Sugar and some of the better known equipments.

Coppers and the metal group in general were strong at gains of a point or more. U. S. Steel was taken in lots of 1000 to 6000 shares at a 1 point advance and other favorites were higher on gains of a point.

RECKLESS DRIVER

were together while at other times he was some distance up the road and Officer Small was at another point.

Witness said he was walking along the road on the night in question when he heard a loud noise which he recognized as a muffled being cut out and immediately saw a machine coming toward him traveling at the rate of about 45 miles an hour. Officer Grant said he held up his hand to have the defendant stop, but instead of stopping the defendant ran into him and knocked him down.

The witness was cross-examined at considerable length by Lawyer George H. Allard, who appeared for the defendant, relative to the speed at which the machine was going at the time, but witness qualified himself as an expert on motor vehicles, being well acquainted with automobiles, and was able to figure distances, speeds, revolutions per minute and also the gearings of motor vehicles.

Officer Small corroborated the testimony offered by his brother officer. He said that Officer Grant was struck by the side car operated by the defendant. There was a woman in the side car at the time of the accident.

The defendant when called to the stand said that he was going but 20 miles an hour. He said he was going down a hill and owing to the fact that his brakes were not working he threw into second speed, thereby reducing the speed of his motorcycle. He said that his compression was poor and the reason he did not stop after striking the officer was on account of the brakes. He said he did not realize that the man who held his hand up was an officer as he had turned from the centre of the road to the left in order to avoid him, thinking the man was going to cross the street.

The court after considering the testimony in the case imposed a fine of $150. An appeal was taken. Frederick A. Fisher appeared for the town of Chelmsford and George H. Allard represented the defendant.

Wife Saves Husband

Mrs. William J. Lally complained that her husband had not supported her in a proper manner and after she told her story and Judge Enright had sentenced the man to four months in the house of correction at Cambridge she told the court that she would be willing to give him a chance if he would do better and on the appeal of the woman the court withdrew the sentence and gave the defendant a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction on condition that he pay his wife $5 a week.

Marchand Released
Arthur Marchand was charged with having assaulted Edward Casarato last July. He entered a plea of not guilty several days ago and inasmuch as the complaint has not put in an appearance, he being in Oldtown, Maine, the man was released.

Other Offenders

Michael Gilday, who has spent several months in the wards of New Hampshire, blew into Lowell two days ago with a roll of $100. He met several friends and after treating them royally was sent to the station for being drunk. When he started to check up his earnings he found that he had spent $35. The court found the man guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15.

Thomas P. Hughes, who was arrested on a capias, for the non-payment of a $2 fine was continued until tomorrow morning.

Ellen Costello and Elizabeth McDermott, who were on parole from the state farm, will be returned to that institution. Michael White was given a direct sentence to the state farm.

George Adams admitted that he was a vagrant and had no visible means of support. He said he wanted to go to the state farm. His request was granted.

GLIDDEN SUES HIS PARTNER FOR $50,000

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—A discovery of a method to beat the stock market was announced yesterday, when the suit of Charles J. Glidden was entered in the Suffolk superior court against Harry P. Wichman of Honolulu who, Glidden claims, failed to carry out his agreement to back the system with $50,000.

CHARLES J. GLIDDEN

Glidden says that no fixed price can be put upon his method, but he places his damages for loss of prospective profits at $50,000.

Under the contract, Glidden says, he and Wichman were to be partners in the business of brokers and advisors, and were to carry accounts for persons in accordance with the "method" conceived by Glidden. After the latter had withdrawn sums to the amount of $25,000 from the business, then both were to share equally in the profits and losses.

Glidden says that he agreed not to disclose his system to anyone, but Wichman has not done so. He was to teach Wichman all the intricacies of the method, so that he might become equally proficient with him in the interpretation of it. Wichman failed to put up the $50,000, it is claimed.

He was in command of the steamer Bay State, which went ashore the night of Sept. 23 on McKenney's Point, Cape Elizabeth, and is being dismantled where she struck.

An investigation by inspectors Harry L. Thompson and Walter L. Blinn, now sustained and carrying suspension as the penalty. Witnesses examined yesterday included Capt. Foran, his pilot, E. S. Gilpatrick of Boston, and the bow watch, Galen F. Seavey. He was represented by counsel and the hearing lasted two hours.

MAKING INVESTIGATION OF COST OF LIVING

ATTORNEY GENERAL GREGORY

The rising cost of living is being investigated by the government to ascertain whether the increasing prices are being pushed upward unlawfully. Wherever that is found to be the case, persons responsible will be punished to the full extent of the law, according to Attorney General Gregory.

Agents of the department of justice particularly are seeking evidence of unlawful price increases through conspiracies or other means.

The attorney general authorized the following statement of his department's activities in that connection: "The department of justice is investigating the recent abnormal and suspicious increases in the prices of various necessities of life, especially food. Wherever any such increase is found to have been due to conspiracy or other unlawful action the department will invoke against the offenders the severest penalties which the law prescribes."

HOW WAR HAMPERS MISSIONARY WORK

ONLY A FEW WHITE FOLKS
SAID TO BE LEFT IN DARKEST AFRICA

How the march of civilization in darkest Africa has been turned backward is graphically told in letters coming from missionaries in the interior of the dark continent to the Seventh Day Adventist headquarters at Washington.

Fragmentary news, leaking out from time to time has indicated how half a century's work in the corner of civilization has been swept away at one stroke when the tribes, taking advantage of the warfare between British and Germans, broke restraint and returned to the rude customs of barbarism in which they were found by Livingstone, Stanley, and other explorers.

The most complete account of conditions received at missionary headquarters so far has come from Mrs. Minnie Toppenberg, the wife of Valdemar E. Toppenberg, who has charge of the medical missionary operations of the Seventh Day Adventists stationed on the eastern shore of the Victoria Nyanza. Her report came from Likiep Island, which formerly was part of German East Africa.

"When the war began," she writes, "at a stroke, we were set back to the Middle Ages. We had none of many things we had in the past. We used bananas, native grains and mufugo for flour, wild honey for sugar, candles made of tallow for light, soap from wood ashes and lime. Clothes were also unobtainable, so we wore pants, etc., made of goat and gazelle skins, and made our own cotton and knitted our stockings.

"Uproar among the natives was feared by the government people at the beginning of the war and we were instructed to inform the natives by our stations that there was no war between Europeans and natives, only soldier against soldier. Not long after the opening of the war, the Masai, a fierce and warlike tribe east of Buserwe, our oldest station, came swarming the country, robbing cattle, and at one time when they plundered in Usukuma they found one of our workers lost his life in defense of the people for whom he faithfully worked. He was stabbed from behind by a spear.

"Early last June, the English occupied Likiep Island, where I am writing this, and in July they took Malauza, the seat of the provincial commissioner of this province, in which all our stations on the German side are located. When the natives heard of this, they lost fear of the German officials, and even openly disobeyed orders, and it got worse when all the officials as well as militia left Likiep, going south. Uproar started immediately by the natives in Likiep. They killed the native police and watchmen left to guard the station. They robbed the government property, and it was reported to us that the British force had only gotten one of our three lines who had been left behind by Dr. Vassenius to watch the mission property had been driven away, some killed and their huts burned. I tried to send messengers to them with words of courage and instruction, but all returned with the letters because of the war raging everywhere. The uproar spread quickly from tribe to tribe, every day bringing new and startling reports.

"My family and I were the only Europeans left in the district, as far south as the river Mbalageti, and we had been warned by the government officials that an uproar was to be expected; also in the last word we heard from any of our missionaries Mr. Ohme wrote upon going south to meet his company that he feared an uprising, but that he did not know of any safe place where he could advise us to go. We could not very well, with a fifteen months old baby, run around in the unknown with the soldiers, and whereas we expected that the English very soon would show up, we decided to wait on our station until we should get some evident sign that we ought to leave.

"We did what we could to protect ourselves, but in night watches, and for the rest committed ourselves to God's protection. Finally the uproar spread to Buserwe also. A chief and his subchief with women and children had fled from Niagang with their 150 head of cattle, but Buserwe natives surrounded them and robbed them of all the 150 cattle and killed one woman and one child. By this time the excitement was started, the natives painted themselves for war, and wore spears, swords, bows and poisoned arrows.

EVERY DAY ETIQUETTE

"When I write to a person I do not know and ask for information should I enclose a stamp?" asked Miss Business Woman.

"No, it is not necessary to send a stamp unless you wish, but you should call and inquire about the mother's and child's health," said her mother.

"Please tell me whether or not the words 'Miss' and 'Mr.' are used before the names of the bride and groom in their wedding invitations?" inquired the bride to be.

"The word 'Miss' is omitted before the name of the bride, but 'Mr.' is used before the name of the groom," said her aunt.

"When sending a letter by a private messenger should the words 'Kindness of Mr. Brown' be written on the envelope?" asked George.

"Although a few people still use this superscription, it is rapidly going out of fashion," said his sister.

"Is it considered correct to place the napkin in the water glass when preparing the table for dinner, and on which side of the plate should the glass be placed?" inquired Mrs. Newlywed.

"The napkin should not be placed in the glass, but should be folded in some simple form and placed on the left side of each plate. The glasses are placed on the right of the plate," said her mother.

"How long before the wedding should the invitations be sent out?" asked Gladys.

"Wedding invitations are usually sent out two weeks before the day fixed for the ceremony," her aunt instructed her.

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU?

Many Doctors Use Musterole
So many sufferers have found relief in Musterole that you ought to buy a small jar and try it.

Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. Musterole rubs the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin. It takes the place of the mussy, old-fashioned mustard plaster.

Musterole is recommended for bronchitis, croup, asthma, pleurisy, lumbago, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, stiff neck, headache and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

25c and 50c jars; hospital size $2.50.

YOUNG WOMEN MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N. Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."—Mrs. MATILDA KURTZWEG, 523 High St., Buffalo, N. Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from young women who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

the war is its revenue from the exportation of coal, and moreover its allies need all they can get. Like every other war measure, however, this act excites opposition and creates complications, although the people as a whole will accept it cheerfully as they have other inconveniences.

The small shopkeepers who live at their place of business are the ones who find most objection. One ground of criticism is that the public houses are still to be opened until half past nine. "Why should men and women be allowed to gather in drinking places and buy beer, if they cannot loaf in a cigar store and buy cigars, and gossip with the clerk?" is one of the questions asked. Places where meals are served may remain open, but only for the purpose of giving meals. They cannot sell cigars, nor can they sell candy or food to be taken off the premises, since the shopkeepers dealing in the same commodities are forbidden to sell. Nor can the night hawkers who have carts, according to some construction of the law, sell cakes to be taken away.

Some of the complications concern places of amusement. "The theatres and music halls must not sell cigars and confectionery after 8 o'clock if we cannot," say the small shopkeepers. "That would be class legislation, and unfair competition." Smokers who are up late, hereafter, must have tobacco in their pockets, or go without.

SWEDISH CHURCH OBSERVES 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Last night was gala night at the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church on Moore street when the congregation gathered with the pastor and many invited guests to observe the 25th anniversary. Over 150 sat down to a delicious roast chicken banquet and then went to the church to hear the addresses of the occasion.

Rev. Edwin T. Stromberg, the pastor, presided and after giving a brief historical review of the church, introduced the speakers. Including the following: Rev. H. E. Whymann of Malden, superintendent of the Boston district; Rev. O. W. Johnson of Boston, a former pastor of the congregation; Rev. O. K. Sundberg of Brockton; Rev. C. E. Rydstrom of Lynn; Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the German Street Methodist church; Rev. P. E. Norstrom, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church; and Rev. Alcott Olson, pastor of the Swedish Congregational church. Piano solos were given by John Laurin, violin solos by Miss Esther Phil. Song by Andrew Phil. and selections by the church choir.

A pleasing feature of the occasion was the presence of ten of the charter members, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Laurin, A. P. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. August Anderson, Miss Gina Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Schomburg, Miss Ida Anderson and John Anderson.

The present church has been paid for, though there still remains due about $1000 owing to the building of a basement by Rev. Mr. Stromberg. There are about 100 members of the church in all standing.

The anniversary exercises will be continued tonight. A missionary sermon will be preached by Rev. C. E. Rydstrom, with Rev. O. W. Johnson and Rev. O. K. Sundberg participating in the service. Saturday night a concert will be given, and on Sunday there will be special preaching at the three services. In the morning Rev. O. W. Johnson will preach. In the afternoon, Rev. Newton P. Sundstrom of Quincy will be the speaker, and in the evening Rev. H. E. Whymann of Malden will preach.

SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Gottlieb Woessner of 45 Fruit street celebrated the 25th anniversary of their marriage last Monday night at the German hall, Plain street. About 150 relatives and friends from Lowell, Boston, Providence and other places were present at the reception. Mr. and Mrs. Woessner received many beautiful gifts of silver, among them being a loving cup from the German-American club, a chest of silver from the singing section of the same club, a silver shaving set and other presents from individual members of the club, and a silver tea set from the Ladies' auxiliary. An orchestra and the singing section enlivened the evening with their selections. A bountiful supper was served, and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour.

HIGH STREET CHURCH

Dr. Richard L. Swain gave one of the most interesting sermons in his series at the High Street Congregational church last night, his subject being: "Losing the Bible to Find It." He spoke of the Bible from the historical, scientific, literary and religious point of view and gave expression to many novel views regarding it. His reference, however, was unmistakable, and he spoke of the Bible as a guide of life and compendium of Christian truth.

MEN OF ROUND TABLE

The Men of the Round Table of the First Baptist church met at the church vestry last night for one of their regular monthly social evenings, the speaker being Congressman John Jacob Rogers who spoke on "Sidelights at Washington." Dinner was provided by the Ladies' Benevolent society. Mrs. Gilman Alcott, chairman. Gray's orchestra gave a delightful concert.

SHOULD HAVE READ THE SUN AND SAVED HIS HAIR

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 10.—Thomas Bodkins was persuaded Wednesday morning, after reading the election headlines in a certain paper, to pay the barber. He was soon sorry he did so and has since been growing more regretful of his haste.

He is now drawing consolation from the hope that Manning will join him in the bald-headed state in a few hours.

STATE CLINICS FOR PARALYSIS CASES

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The state department of health, acting in conjunction with the Harvard paralysis commission, will establish clinics for after care of sufferers from infantile paralysis.

than 1700 cases of this disease, a figure much in excess of any previous years. Of the non-fatal cases a considerable majority will suffer a varying amount of permanent defect. With proper treatment the amount of defect may be reduced and, in some cases, wholly avoided.

"Because of the hitherto comparatively infrequent occurrence of this disease, experience in the treatment of the disease has been limited.

REMEDY FOR NEURASTHENIA

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills.

TARZEIN IS SAVED FROM THE CHAIR

DEATH SENTENCE CONSULTED BY
GOVERNOR AND COUNCIL—MURDER IN CHELSEA

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—After several hours' deliberation, Gov. McCall and the executive council yesterday voted unanimously to commute the sentence imposed on Adam Tarzein, condemned to die the week beginning Nov. 19 for the murder in Chelsea last January of Belle and Anna Ostrovsky. Lieut. Gov. Coolidge and all the council were present, the governor presiding.

Although the vote was unanimous, it is known that at least one councilor was for a time inclined to oppose commutation.

Gov. McCall issued a statement later, as follows: "The pardoning power is not intended to operate as an appeal from the action of the courts and its exercise does not constitute the slightest impeachment of our judicial tribunals."

This appeared to be a case where the extreme penalty of the law should not be exacted and where imprisonment for life might well be substituted for the punishment imposed. Under all the circumstances it seemed to be a case where society might be spared the ordeal of taking a human life."

Sheriff Quinn had interested himself in the prisoner's behalf some time ago and appeared Wednesday at the state house to recommend executive clemency. "I thought that it was a good case for commutation," said Sheriff Quinn yesterday. "I told Tarzein that Gov. McCall was opposed to capital punishment and that he might have a chance."

"You oppose capital punishment yourself, sheriff?"

"I do, but I was on the other side

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr.

Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets. These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

CAN'T FIND DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears after one or two applications of Danderrine rubbed well into the scalp with the finger tips. Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderrine at any drug store and save your hair. After a few applications you can't find a particle of dandruff or any itching hair, and the scalp will never itch.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

If little stomach is sour, liver
torpid or bowels
clogged

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can't cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

once," replied the sheriff. "When I was in the legislature I made a speech which prevented the repeal of the capital punishment law. But I've changed my mind. My mind is different when you have to pull the rope. You get the other side of it then."

Tarzein's counsel, Thomas F. Vahay, waited at the council chamber until the decision was reached and left immediately for the Charles street jail to notify his client. Mr. Vahay was the only speaker at the hearing. He said Tarzein's case was not premeditated and that it was the act of a man with a disordered mind. Tarzein, he said, planned to kill himself and was reading his Bible in his room preparatory to suicide when the two women entered and insulted him so that he became enraged and shot them both, and then turned the revolver on himself.

120 LIVES LOST WHEN BARGE SANK

LONDON, Nov. 10.—One hundred and twenty persons have been drowned through the sinking of a barge on the Vistula, according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam. The disaster occurred at Kamierz near Lublin in Poland.

ENGAGED TO BOSTON WOMAN
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—Naval Lieut. Welsh, who is Lieut. C. K. Bronson was killed Wednesday at Indian Head, Md., when an aerial bomb shattered the airplane in which they were making a test of the explosive, received his appointment from Kansas City in 1906.

His fight for the appointment attracted wide notice at the time as he found himself two inches under height in his physical examination after passing a brilliant scholastic test. Young Welsh placed himself under a physical instructor and by exercises and weights increased his height to the minimum requirement in the allotted time.

Lieut. Welsh was to have been married Nov. 23 to a young woman in Boston, relatives here declared.

CAVALRY GREETED BY CROWDS AT ARMORY

FIRST SQUAD OF NATIONAL GUARD REACHES HOME—WOULD
GO BACK TOMORROW

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Last night the 1st Squadron Cavalry, the mounted arm of the National Guard of Massachusetts, arrived home from the Texas border with every man in the pink of condition.

There was a tedious wait for the relatives and friends of the organization, and there were also doubts as to where the troops were to be landed. The majority assembled at the new Commonwealth armory, and it was at this point that the men received their real welcome.

The train, which was made up of 27 freight, horse and tourist cars, was one of the heaviest that has been run over the various railroads, and consequently its progress was slow, but immediately the train was turned over to the railroads which have Boston as a terminus every effort was made to get the squadron home quickly.

It was after 6 o'clock when the train bearing Maj. Charles A. Schmitz and command pulled into the Brighton cattle yards, and the few hundred people assembled gave the returning soldiers a royal welcome. The members of the four troops immediately detained. The 150 horses were unloaded and were on their way to the armory inside of 10 minutes.

The baggage and camp implements also came off in record time and the four troops were soon on the way to the armory. It was a fine piece of work for every troop and selected credit on both officers and men, as it was done in the dark.

On arriving at the armory the real

"homecoming" of the squadron was realized, as the vast structure was crowded with relatives and friends, and the men who had spent the last four months on the border felt that they had not been forgotten.

Gen. Cutting, the chief armorer, had everything prepared for the squadron but stalls for the horses. There were cots for the men and blankets, but the horses had to be turned loose on the tankard with ample water and stacks of hay. They appeared just as happy as the men, and after a good feed just lay down for a good night's rest, after eight days in closed cars.

The outfit returned home in the best of condition, the men fully equipped for a winter campaign, with overcoats and sweaters, and a happier bunch of young men would be hard to find in Massachusetts. The majority expressed themselves as willing to return to the border tomorrow.

The squadron is made up of Boston men, and undoubtedly had they arrived earlier in the day they would have received a warm welcome.

At the armory, and after receiving the good wishes of their friends, the majority repaired to their homes, leaving having been granted them until this morning at 9:30, when every man is expected to answer the roll call.

On board the train were 18 officers and 350 men, comprising Troop A (National Lancers), also known as the governor's mounted bodyguard; Troop B, to which many State street men belong; Troop C, also known as the "Harvard" troop; Troop D (Roxbury Horse Guards) and the attached sanitary troops.

Like all troops that have returned, the cavalry had attractions enough for a side show at a circus, including birds, beasts and reptiles, and also goat, dogs and burros, all of which will be on exhibition at the armory today.

THIRD MAJOR LEAGUE MAY ENTER FIELD

PLAN TO ASSEMBLE EASTERN AND WESTERN CITIES NOW IN THE MINORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The formation of a third major league, consisting of the leading cities in the International league and American association, will be one of the leading topics to come up for discussion before the annual meeting of the minor leagues, to be held in New Orleans next Tuesday.

Such a league would take in Baltimore, Buffalo, Newark and Toronto from the International league and Louisville, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Toledo in the American association. Kansas City, which drew well in the Federal league in 1915, would be favored over Toledo for its geographical location.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR PLANT JUICE

Popular Retired Business Man
Is Feeling the Best He
Has in Years.

Relative to the remarkable new preparation, Plant Juice, the herbal stomach remedy, now being introduced in Lowell for the first time, and which has created such a sensation in the large western cities,

CHARLES H. COLLIER

where thousands have flocked to the headquarters to testify to the great benefits received therefrom, is the following signed testimonial of Mr. Charles H. Collier, of No. 16 Conant street, Salem, Mass., a retired business man of that town, who has many friends in this city. He said: "For 15 years I have been troubled with my stomach, which was all filled with gas which pressed on my heart, and I thought I had heart trouble; I could not eat anything without having a burning sensation in my stomach; could not sleep at night and got very weak and miserable, in fact, completely run down. I had headaches, and was so dizzy at times that I thought I would fall over; had catarrh of the stomach, and the gas in my stomach pained me so that some times I thought I would die. I had tried everything in the shape of medicine but never received any permanent benefit until I began to take Plant Juice. It relieved my trouble immediately and since I have taken two bottles I feel the best I have in years; the gas has left my system, I have a good appetite and enjoy all of my meals now, and sleep well at night. Plant Juice is the most wonderful medicine I ever heard of, and I am glad to give this endorsement for it."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggists, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Representatives were all represented in the Federal league until 1904, when its franchise was transferred to St. Louis, and also put in one year in the National league, while Louisville was in the National league for quite a spell before the present major league was reduced from a 12 to an eight club league in 1900. Baltimore, Buffalo and Indianapolis have all been represented at various times in both the National and American leagues.

Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and Ed Barrow, president of the International league, already have talked over such a merger and it also has been discussed with men prominent in the American association. If the plan would succeed the league would be known as the American association and Barrow would be elected president.

If such a move is undertaken it will be the direct offshoot of the Federal league of 1914 and 1915, which left the International league a wreck and still is being felt throughout the entire minor league belt. Prior to the big baseball war the International league was one of the most prosperous in the country, with franchises valued at from $10,000 to $200,000. The Federal league, out of his league notions into the heads of the fans in Baltimore, Newark and Buffalo, and when the baseball war was over they refused to go back to the International league.

Something drastic must be done for the big minors, and major league rating may be the only way out of the difficulty. Should the International association merger be effected through the new league would immediately be exempt from the draft, and it may be given several years to build itself up to real major league strength. After such a term of years the league would be eligible for the world's series, and it would immediately have a representative on the National commission. Such a merger would mean an entirely new arrangement of the minor league baseball map. The Western league was in bad straits last year and it could be propped up by the cities left over by the association—St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Columbus. A new league, taking in Providence, Rochester, Montreal and the best cities in the New York State league, could form a new organization, which would retain the name of the International league. Richmond, which has had two years' experience in the International league, could be returned to the Virginia league or given a berth in the Southern association, taking the place of Mobile, the weak link of the Dixie circuit.

That a great deal of interest is being manifested in the minor leagues' annual conference is evident from the large delegations of local magnates who will attend the New Orleans gathering. President Barrow and Captain Huston, Montreal and the best cities in the New York State league, already are on their way to the meeting, having stopped at Dover Hall, Ga. President Tener of the National league, Business Manager Sparrow of the Yankees and President Ebbs of the Brooklyn will also be in attendance.

COOGAN WINS ON FOUL

LAWRENCE, Nov. 10.—Mel Coogan of Brooklyn, N. Y., won from Harry Carlson of Brockton on a foul in the third round of the main bout at the Unity club last night.

Coogan had completely outclassed Carlson up to the time the low blow was struck. The semi-final between Kid Leo of Chelsea and Kid Thomas of this city was decided a draw, and Jimmy Crealey of this city won from Young Bell Haverhill in the preliminary.

LES MISERABLES LEAGUE OPENED LAST NIGHT

The Les Miserables league was opened last evening with two matches that attracted a large number of fans. The Climbers took all four points from the Wolves and the Dodgers won two strikes and the total from the Belvidere-Five. Swistak of the Belvidere had the best single string and Montgomery of the Dodgers captured the best individual total.

In the Lawrence league the Boarding Room and the Web Knit were winners over the Shipping Dept. and the Pipe Shop, respectively. The latter was the star with a total of 223.

RIVET TO MEET ROBSON IN LAWRENCE

George Rivet, the welterweight champion of Canada, who is making his home in Lowell at present, was last evening matched to meet Tommy Robson of Brooklyn at the Gully Cycle club in Lawrence. Thanksgiving eve, Robson is a fast boy and has been going at a fine clip recently. He should give the Canadian champ a hard go in a 12-round bout. Robson fought in Lawrence last year and made a big hit with the fans. As Rivet won his only fight in Lawrence on a knockout the match with Robson will undoubtedly create great interest.

Hector Melanes of Boston has been engaged to manage Rivet and will have charge of him from now on. Melanes is well known in Lowell and is at present manager of Phinney Boyle. He has also managed Jimmy Moriarty, Gardner Brooks and Johnny Boyle and had good luck with all.

George Rivet will leave Sunday night for Quebec where he will meet Danny Field of New York.

Mose Taylor, right tackle, Harvard.
Cupid Black, right guard, Yale.
Red Callahan, centre, Yale, Andover.

WHITE'S NEW ALINI

If Charlie White were only half as good a fighter as he—or his manager—is an alibi expert, the fighting product of Europe would be champion of the world.

It took Charlie quite a while to get around to it, but he is abroad at last with an alibi for his defeat at the hands of Freddie Welsh, in Colorado Springs on Labor day. Charlie would have all of us know that he—Welsh—was the victor in that affair.

THE SUN'S GREAT SCOOP

The Lowell Sun was the first paper in the United States to announce positively the victory of President Wilson the day after election.

Today the newspapers big and little of this country are announcing the re-election of President Wilson, just three days after the news appeared in this paper based on a mathematical survey of the returns from the western states. In our computation the most liberal allowance was made to Mr. Hughes in the states from which the returns were incomplete. There was no possible conclusion but the election of President Wilson.

Some of our political opponents hinted that we were unfair in our decision, but if we erred at all it was by allowing Mr. Hughes more than belonged to him.

But let us examine the figures upon which we based our conclusion. We gave Wilson 273 electoral votes. This included the votes of California and North Dakota, in which the president's lead was clearly too great to be overcome. The vote of New Hampshire was added later. Because of the strong republican lead in West Virginia, we placed that state in the Hughes column. As the vote in Minnesota and New Mexico was uncertain, we gave both these states to Hughes, making his total 258, although Wilson had an equal chance of carrying at least one of them. By a calculation in percentage of gain or loss based upon the returns received and upon the political complexion of each of the states classed as doubtful on the face of the returns, The Sun was able to decide for the people the question of who was elected while other papers were floundering in doubt, and changing hourly from Hughes to Wilson and back again.

Even this morning the Courier-Citizen is not ready to concede the election of Wilson although our neighbor may be excused on the ground that it was among the number that celebrated the election of Mr. Hughes on Tuesday night. The display of American flags on the narrow-shouldered Courier-Citizen building looked very nice in the glare of the White Way. Of course it was an intimation that the greater part of the patriotism and practically all of the "true Americanism" of which our city can boast had its lodgment in the Courier-Citizen office; but as for capacity to compute election percentages and draw accurate deductions as to results, the people had to look to The Sun building. We were not among those who believed that the candidate who carried New York and New England was surely elected.

In this category some otherwise great newspapers lost their reputation for accuracy, among them being the New York Herald, The Times, and even The World. In Boston the sensational sheet had an election extra on the street before 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening and told what states had been carried by Hughes long before the polls had closed in Nebraska and other western states.

Even the usually conservative and reliable Boston Globe last evening felicitated itself upon not being in the false prophet class. It had made no positive announcement beyond giving the actual vote conceded to each candidate and telling which was leading in the other states. This morning it came out with a statement of the total vote giving Wilson 276 and Hughes 255, differing only three votes from our statement of yesterday and the figures on which we announced the election of Wilson on Wednesday. Here again is proof that in declaring Mr. Wilson elected, The Sun gave Mr. Hughes all the states that his friends could reasonably claim for him and some which we felt would finally go over to Wilson.

Today the New York Sun has the electoral vote set at 272 for Wilson and 259 for Hughes, just one vote different from our totals of yesterday. Our New York namesake, however, is wrong in giving New Hampshire with four votes to Hughes, while we, in spite of Wilson's lead in New Mexico, gave the three votes of that state to Hughes so as to avoid anything like unfairness. Both these states are now for Wilson.

We bring this matter to the attention of the public to demonstrate that our announcement of Wilson's election on Wednesday was not based on mere guess work. In the morning The Sun put out "An Extra" saying the "election was in doubt," but followed two hours later with an edition indicating that Wilson's election was probable. In our last edition, we gave the result of a scientific computation which showed that Hughes could not cut down Wilson's lead to the extent necessary to elect him. Therefore, on the most logical and incontrovertible basis, we announced the result and in so doing, so far as we can learn, The Sun was the only paper in the United States to announce the accurate result the day after the voting.

We hereby acknowledge messages by wire and otherwise congratulating The Sun upon a feat that is likely to become historic and one which men who watched the papers of the country say stands unrivalled.

FORMER ELECTION CONTESTS

The present election recalls others in which the results were so close that great delay resulted. That was particularly the case in the election of 1876 in the Tilden-Hayes contest. The republican party had been in power for sixteen years and the people wanted a change. Samuel J. Tilden, one of the greatest democrats this country ever produced, was the democratic standard bearer and Rutherford B. Hayes of Ohio, the republican.

On the face of the election returns it appeared that Tilden was elected, but the republicans claimed Louisiana, Florida and Oregon for Hayes. These claims were disputed by the democrats. A special electoral commission of fifteen consisting of senators, representatives and supreme court judges was created for the purpose of canvassing the results and deciding the controversy.

All the disputed votes were given to Hayes by this commission and he accordingly was elected by a majority of one vote in the electoral college.

It was generally believed at the time and it has been the belief of democrats at least ever since, that the election was stolen from Tilden by political trickery.

In the election of Cleveland in 1892 there was great delay in the work of getting the final returns. Cleveland finally was declared elected with 277 electoral votes to 145 for Benjamin Harrison.

The republicans somehow seem to harbor the idea that it should be their privilege to remain in power indefinitely and they fight against removal by every scheme they can devise to save them. In the present election they are fighting with their usual strenuousness to get back into office. But the odds are plainly too heavy against them to permit any subversion of the will of the people.

THE HOMESTEAD LAW

The Homestead commission is to ask the next legislature for an appropriation of $50,000 for the purpose of starting the work contemplated by the act. That sum will not go far towards carrying out the aims of the Homestead act, but it may suffice to show what might be done under a more liberal allowance. The idea is to assist people of limited means in acquiring homes of their own either by direct purchase or by building for themselves. Apparently, what the state might do to advantage would be to build cottages suitable for families of small means, but sanitary and commodious, these to be sold at easy terms to the families that need them. Doubtless any attempt to do this will be met at once by competition and interference from agencies now in existence, but whose work is entirely for their own benefit.

Should the state enter upon such an enterprise on any extended scale, it should first of all devise several plans for single family cottages and arrange for their construction at a minimum cost. With these essentials as a starting point, it would be comparatively easy to secure land at a reasonable rate, although once owners know that the state wants the land, they will be likely to put up the price. The Homestead commission law has great possibilities of good if operated on any liberal scale. Just as soon as the state can show the wage earner who pays rent that he can purchase a home in eight or ten years by paying just a little more than his present rent, he will grasp at the opportunity. That aid should be placed within reach of every industrious man.

THE DECIDING FACTORS

The influences that operated in this election to turn some republican states into the democratic column and some democratic into the opposition, are varied and inexplicable. In some cases the progressive legislation by the democratic party and the fact that we enjoy prosperity was a deciding factor, but in many the prime influence was the belief that Wilson is a safe man to have in the White House in case of trouble. He is not a braggart, not a semi-military boaster, not a hot head with a chip on his shoulder seeking somebody to knock it off. It may be averred that neither is Mr. Hughes such a man; but if not he is allied to and controlled by such men; and during his campaign he approved practically all that Roosevelt said while in some instances he was quite as much of a fling as Roosevelt himself.

The old maxim that it is bad policy to change horses in crossing a stream was also considered and had its influence of course. The people know what Wilson stands for but they do not know what policies Mr. Hughes would inaugurate were he placed in the White House. If he kept his promise to blot out the whole democratic accomplishment, it is fortunate that he will not have the opportunity.

THE SMALL STATES

Some of the small states such as New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota must feel that they have suddenly taken on increased importance since upon them rests a large share of the responsibility of deciding the presidential contest. Through the discovery of an error in the count, New Hampshire was swung from Hughes to Wilson to the great surprise of the republicans. Both in Maine and New Hampshire the campaign methods of Hughes, Lodge and Roosevelt disgusted many of the voters with the result that the republican vote in Maine was largely cut down from the figures of the state election and New Hampshire, a strongly republican state, was driven into the democratic column. The democratic party is perhaps indebted to the republican alarmists and roor-back manufacturers for helping to elect Mr. Wilson.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE

The people of this nation as a result of the close contest in the presidential election, will know more of the electoral college than ever before. Even the school children are canvassing the electoral vote of the states regarded as doubtful or whose returns have been late in getting in. They may not all know that the number of electoral votes for each state is equal to the number of the members of congress for that state plus the two United States senators. Thus while New York has 45 such votes there are five small states that have but 3 each. By most of the political experts, it has been assumed that no presidential candidate could win without New York, but Wilson, with a solid south, has discredited that assumption for all time, a fact which some of the New York papers will undoubtedly remember.

It is not unlikely that the newly elected congress will be called in extra session. Under the constitution the new body would not meet until December, 1917. This is an arrangement that should be changed as the new men should get into the harness without waiting a year to assume their duties. President Wilson will find business for the new congress and it is not likely to wait for the constitutional time for beginning business.

Every good citizen wants to see fair play in giving effect to the will of the people. Any attempt to vitiate the election returns either by democratic or republican should be met with the severest penalty.

We most cordially welcome New Hampshire into the list of democratic states. It will be Maine's turn next and then Massachusetts will follow the good example.

He may not have kept us out of war but he did not get us into war, nor is he likely to unless the honor and the safety of the country demand it.

Had the democrats of this state picked their strongest man and nominated him in a proper manner they might have beaten Mr. Lodge.

The forest fire season is now on. The small boy and the hunter should exercise more care than formerly.

Seen and Heard

It is reported that the Japs are making aeroplanes out of fly paper.

Joe Hubbard says there was no truth to the report that he was on the stump for Hughes.

You may say what you will, but the average man would think it over quite a while before proposing to a school teacher.

There's a man in the Highlands who manages to keep out of a whole lot of trouble at home because of the fact that he is a quick thinker. The other night he went home and his wife accused him of drinking, declaring that she smelled it on his breath. "Not a drop," said Mr. Quick Thinker. "I've been eating frogs' legs. What you smell is the frog."

Perfectly Satisfied
"Do you love me better than any girl you ever knew?" asked the confiding dandy.
"Infinitely better," replied the experienced swain. "In fact, the affection I have thought I felt for others is chiefly remarkable for the difference between it and the whole-hearted devotion I give you."

Whereupon she snuggled up a little closer.

The landlord was having the house painted and he and the artist had decided on the colors to be used without consulting the tenant. When they were being applied the housewife talked about them rather plainly along; lines that are sometimes designated as higher criticism.

"No, what is it?"

"Tongue color."

"And I presume you chose gray in this instance because of your preponderance of gray matter," said the peeved woman as she retreated within doors.

WILSON'S ELECTION
Continued

Arizona, New Hampshire and New Mexico, with 19 electoral votes. Unless there is a decided overturn in the districts missing Wilson will carry New Mexico, Illinois, and New Hampshire. The result will not be known in New Hampshire until the official count is completed. West Virginia, which was classed as doubtful until late last night has gone definitely for Hughes.

Unless the vote of California is divided which seems a possibility, Mr. Wilson is assured of 269 votes in the electoral college, three more than a majority, and Mr. Hughes of 213. The president could lose three votes from California and still have enough to elect. This loss would be offset by New Mexico which it seems certain he has carried.

If Mr. Hughes carried both Minnesota and 12 votes and New Hampshire with four he would have only 225, seven less than enough to elect. Mr. Wilson could lose New Mexico and three votes from California and still win.

The result in Minnesota may be determined by the ballots of the 2133 National Guardsmen now on the Mexican border which will not be counted until the state canvassing board meets next Tuesday. Returns received early today in the state gave Hughes a lead of slightly over 1000 votes.

Wilson Leads in New Mexico

With 59 districts missing out of 635 in New Mexico Wilson was 1410 ahead. The remote precincts not yet heard from are sparsely settled and it was not believed the president's lead could be wiped out.

New Hampshire in Doubt

The outcome in New Hampshire was in greater doubt than in any other state. Certified returns from all but 25 precincts gave Hughes a lead of 123 but unofficial figures from the districts lacking were said to show a Wilson plurality of 117.

Wilson Wins in California

California complete except for 35 of the 6870 precincts in the state gave Wilson 45,553 and Hughes 42,538, a plurality of 3114 for the president.

G.O.P. Admits California for Wilson

The tension of the most dramatic situation in the political history of the United States was broken when the Associated Press flashed the news that Republican State Chairman Rowell of California had conceded the state to Wilson. Frantic appeals to expedite returns had been sent to state leaders hour after hour from the national headquarters of both parties in this city. Telegrams were reinforced by telephone. The concession meant it had been apparent since Wednesday that California was the pivot upon which the election would swing.

Stage Coaches Carry Votes

It was not until stage coaches had come through from communities tucked away in the Sierras or settlements on the arid eastern slopes of the mountains that the result was known. Ordinarily the few votes cast in these remote districts are considered of little moment but in this historic making presidential year they were of vital importance. The coaches were reached by telephone or telegram and the trails and passelands leading to them were choked with snow in many places. There was nothing to do but wait for the stages and they came coming in late night.

Hard to Get Returns

Greater difficulties were encountered in collecting the returns from the wilds of New Mexico and from the sparsely settled portions of the western states. New Mexico's three electoral votes have been considered only as incidental in swelling the tally of the winner, but yesterday the night before election a president, Mr. Wilson was almost as important as California in determining whether Hughes or Wilson had won and the returns from that state caused nearly as much jubilation among the republicans as those from California in the rival camp.

Republicans to Ask Recount

That President Wilson's election will not be conceded without a recount in the close states was the declaration of republican leaders early today after conferences lasting far into last night. Some definite course of action probably will be decided upon within a few hours. The states in which it was said recourse to judicial proceedings was likely were California, New Hampshire, New Mexico and North Dakota.

To Demand Recount

If recount proceedings are instituted, it was believed George W. Wickensham, attorney general of the United States under President Taft, would marshal the legal forces of the republicans. He conferred last night with Mr. Hughes and Chairman Wilcox of the national committee at the nominee's hotel here. No formal statement was forthcoming as to what was contemplated, but Mr. Wilcox asserted a recount would be demanded wherever the margin of democratic victory was so small that a comparatively few votes would turn the scales. To him and his advisers the position, they said, that there should be no "cloud" upon Mr. Wilson's title to the presidency.

Judge Parker Represents Democrats

Until President Wilson's victory was assured, the democrats also were preparing to demand a recount in the so-called doubtful states. Alton B. Parker, who conferred with chief justice of the New York court of appeals to become the democratic candidate in 1904, conferred with National Chairman McCormick, as did several other prominent democratic lawyers.

Want Recount in New Hampshire

The republicans have called for a recount in New Hampshire, where less than 200 votes are likely to decide the result. Charges of attempts to tamper with the ballot boxes in North Dakota have been made in several sections of that state and have been laid before the federal district attorney by the United States marshal. Agents of the department of justice have been mobilized at points in other states.

The republicans contended, it was said unofficially today, that since the democrats claimed California by a margin of only approximately 3000 out of nearly 1,000,000 votes cast, it was apparent slight errors in a district here and there might change the outcome.

No Charges of Fraud

The democrats maintained, on the other hand, that no charges of fraud had been made by State Chairman Rowell of the republicans, in conceding the state to Mr. Wilson, and that if there had been any basis for them he undoubtedly would have informed the national headquarters of the party in this city. In a statement made to The Associated Press at San Francisco, the only contention Mr. Rowell made of even a partial Bank hours 8:30 to 3 daily, Saturdays 8:30 to 12:30 and evening 7 to 9. The laws of Commonwealth require this opportunity once in three years, commencing in 1910.

Up to The States
Both sides conceded that no matter what action might be taken in regard to a recount, there was little likelihood of a contest being carried to the house of representatives, as it was after the Hayes-Tilden campaign in 1876. Legislation enacted in 1837, it was said, made the states sovereign in pronouncing judgment in a recount of the presidential vote.

In three states, however, there were prospects over one elector in each instance. The eligibility of a democratic elector in Texas has been questioned because he is said to be an office holder and the federal laws prohibit a person holding office from serving as an elector.

Electors in Washington Dead
One of the democratic electors in Washington died just before election day and the party managers attached posters to the ballots, substituting another name for his. The legality of this procedure has been questioned by the republicans. A somewhat similar case has arisen in West Virginia, where one of the republican electors refused to run and the republicans resorted to posters bearing another name in place of his.

"Something Might Happen"
Up to the time republican headquarters here were closed soon after midnight, the party leaders gathered there refused to concede defeat. They seemed to base their confidence upon the assumption that "something might happen" in California. Mr. Hughes was told before he retired for the night that California had gone against him, but he had no comment to make.

McCormick Vindicated

Democratic headquarters were electrified by the announcement of the result in California transmitted to Chairman McCormick by the Associated Press. The chairman was especially gratified because he had been vindicated in his pre-election prediction that Wilson could be elected even if he lost New York, New Jersey, Indiana and Illinois.

Solid East Against Wilson

Mr. Wilson is the only president ever elected with the "solid east" against him. His victory was believed by politicians to presage an alignment for the first time in congress of the west with the south. It was pointed out that while he would not have a working majority in the lower house he would not have to combat a majority inimical to his policies.

There was much speculation today among suffragists as to the part played by women in the election. Analysis of their vote was eagerly awaited. While President Wilson lost in Illinois and Oregon, he carried Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, Kansas, Nevada and California, the other ten states in which women voted.

TUMULTU NOTICES PRESIDENT

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 9, 11:30 p.m.—Secretary Tumulty wired formal notification to the president of his reelection. The message was passed to the president aboard the Mayflower. It was as follows:

"I am here surrounded by the loyal democrats of Old Monmouth and beg leave to send you our greetings and congratulations.

"The cause you so nobly represented has at last triumphed and we greet you. Our hearts, our thoughts and our affections go to you."

WILSON FOUR YEARS MORE

LONG BRANCH, Nov. 10.—President Wilson yesterday laughed heartily over the following telegram from Fred Mace of Los Angeles, to Secretary Tumulty. It fits the tune of "The Wearing of the Green" and runs:

"Oh, Joseph dear, and did you hear the Hughes that's going around? They counted lots of ballots, but enough could not be found. They counted once, they counted twice, they'll count a whole lot more. But when they all have finished, 'twill be Wilson, four years more."

WILSON WORKERS TAKE REST

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Nov. 10.—Except for the presence of Secretary Tumulty and his aides, the executive offices of the summer White House were practically deserted this morning.

CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Nov. 10.—With California's determining vote conceded to Wilson, interest in the size of the president's plurality claimed attention today for its bearing in the case of a split electoral delegation which has been predicted.

Only 35 precincts remained to be heard from early today with Wilson's lead at 3114. As the missing precincts are sparsely settled counties, it was believed that the present plurality would not be changed materially.

Both Secretary of State Jordan and Chester H. Rowell, chairman of the republican state central committee, will have just received the state to Wilson. He looked for a state delegation as happened four years ago. An official count probably will be begun next Tuesday.

than 100 precincts in the state to be heard from, Charles E. Hughes today is leading President Wilson by a plurality of slightly more than 1000 votes in a race which has whipsawed through two days and three rights of unofficial counting and, according to leaders of both democratic and republican parties, can only be decided by the official count.

The vote of the Minnesota guardsmen on the Mexican border, which is being forwarded to the county auditors of the home counties of the voters and cannot be counted until Nov. 15, and the law giving the absent guardsmen the privilege of voting, is expected to be received some time before Monday, according to the best information obtainable today.

The vote of the guardsmen which was taken Tuesday by commissioners sent to the border for the purpose, amounted to 2138 and is regarded by party leaders as an important factor in deciding the election in the state.

NEW MEXICO

SANTA FE, N. M., Nov. 10.—New Mexico still a doubtful state, gave President Wilson a lead of 1410 votes early today, according to unofficial returns from all but 99 of the 635 precincts in the state.

Complete check from unofficial returns late yesterday, based on latest figures received by county clerks in the 27 counties, swung the state into the Wilson column. Additional returns received during the night from scattered precincts again showed marked Hughes trend. The latest figures early today were: Hughes 38,978; Wilson 22,466.

These figures did not include 27 precincts in Roosevelt county where the clerk announced that Wilson had won by 425 votes and that the returns had been checked up with the ballots. The remaining 32 precincts were scattered throughout the state.

Returns on United States senator, congressman and governor were far from complete. Three hundred and eighty-four precincts gave Jones, democrat, for United States senator 24,176; Hubbard, republican, 22,693. For congressman, 29 precincts gave Wallen, democrat, 15,906; Hernandez, republican, 14,612. De Baca, democrat, led Bursam, republican, by about 1600 in these precincts for governor.

WYOMING

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 10.—Revised returns early today show that the congressional contest in Wyoming is close and both republicans and democrats are claiming a victory. Democratic headquarters claimed that John D. Clark, democrat, was leading Congressman Mondell, republican, by 23, with only 700 uncounted votes. Republican insisted that Mondell was re-elected but gave no figures.

MONTANA

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 10.—Returns early today showing more than three quarters of the vote of the state give Wilson 20,000 plurality over Hughes, Stewart, democrat, for governor, 5000 over Edwards, republican; Meyers, CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 10.—Unofficial returns from 518 of the 585 precincts in Wyoming early today gave President Wilson 15,934 votes against 12,557 for Charles E. Hughes. In these precincts John B. Kendrick, democrat, candidate for senator received 11,788 votes and Senator Clarence D. Clark, 12,629.

NORTH DAKOTA

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 10.—The first returns received today, which leave only 25 precincts to report, give President Wilson a plurality of 1615 votes in North Dakota. The remaining precincts not reported are in the more remote districts of the state and the count may not be received until late in the day. Republican leaders conceded that the plurality for the president would not be materially changed by the remaining vote.

ERROR IN CONCORD, N. H.

KEENE, N. H., Nov. 10.—Adolph W. Pressler, clerk of ward 2, this city, said today that his certified return to the secretary of state, that Wilson received no vote in that ward was a clerical error. President Wilson received 133 votes, he said, and Hughes received 258. When informed that a substitute blank had been forwarded him by Secretary of State Dean he said he would fill it out with the above figures.

PETER SOUFLIS REPLIES TO SCHOOL BOARD

WRITES OF RECENT VISIT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE TO HIS SCHOOL

The following statement has been given to The Sun by Peter Souflis, principal of the Greek school, who wishes to set before the Lowell public "A True Version of Conditions at the Greek School." This statement is in answer to published accounts of a recent visit of the Lowell school committee to the school and what they found there. One who talks with Mr. Souflis cannot but be impressed with his earnestness, sincerity and ability.

Here is his statement: "I have to express my heartfelt thanks to the school committee for their sudden visit to the Greek school, on Warren street and Broadway. I wouldn't omit to express also my gratitude to this pedagogical staff of the school committee, who found the complaints regarding the 'penalties' which are said to be inflicted in the Greek school baseless and frankly contradicted those calumnies and with sympathy to the school. The dignified school committee found, on their unexpected visit, that these calumnious reports or rumors were without foundation.

Concerning the English taught in our school, we have long realized it is not sufficient, and have been doing our best to increase the amount taught. Fully seventy-five per cent.

of our children can carry on an ordinary conversation when addressed by one with whom they are familiar. Had we been asked for a demonstration of their knowledge of English, I feel sure the public would have received a different impression than that 'they couldn't even answer when asked their own names.'

My teachers and I know the nature and uses of punishment. We know that punishment is to be thoroughly effective must be prompt and suited to the character of the child. I have been graduated after a college education, according to the law of Greece and Germany. A spent four years in Athens Normal school, and I learned the elementary pedagogical rule, that punishment should be so graduated as to accord with a natural scale of blameworthiness. My teachers and I know that corporal punishment is clearly unsuited to the children and that it has been banished and ostracized long ago from the civilized schools. We know that few things in school work are of such weight and importance, few are so beset with difficulties, as the clear appreciation of the province and uses of punishment and its proper administration. We know at last that our pupils must learn cheerfully and we have been so sociable and adaptable with them that they think they are still at home; gaining their ideas, systematically and according to the pedagogical rules, under their fathers or mother's direction, they shape their character and direct their conduct in

MAN WHO SHOT CAPT. BROSNAN WILL FACE SERIOUS CHARGE

Benjamin Buck of Tewksbury, who shot Capt. Brosnan of the Lowell police and who terrorized the people in the vicinity of the Avery Chemical Co. in Tewksbury, yesterday afternoon, and who is now confined in St. John's hospital, will have to answer to three complaints of assault with intent to murder, when he is able to appear in court.

Chief Frank Farmer of Tewksbury, who took part in the gun play in order to capture Buck, yesterday afternoon, appeared before the clerk of the local court this morning, and swore out complaints against Buck for assault with intent to murder James Brosnan, James Considine and Clyde R. Aldrich.

Although Buck is confined to the hospital, the local police are not taking any chances of his escaping them, for from 1.30 o'clock this morning until 5.30 o'clock, Patrolman Shorkey and Muloney stood guard over him, and at 9.30 o'clock, they were relieved by Patrolman Burns and Maroney, who will stay by his bedside for

RECKLESS DRIVER FINED $150

The greater part of this morning's session of police court was taken up with the trial of the case of Richard Hoyle who was charged with recklessly operating a motor vehicle and also with operating a motor vehicle in such a way as to endanger the safety of the public. After the witnesses had been heard Judge Burgh found the defendant guilty on the complaint of reckless driving and imposed a fine of $150. Hoyle appealed and was held under $500 bonds for his appearance before the superior court.

According to the testimony offered Herman Grant and George Small, police officers of Chelmsford, had set a "trap" for automobileists along that short stretch of Gorham street in Chelmsford between the Lowell and Billerica lines on the night of September 7. The defendant, it is alleged, operating a motor vehicle had been attached passed through the street at a rapid rate of speed and when told to hold up he refused to do so. He ran into Officer Grant and as a result of the collision the officer suffered a broken leg.

Officer Grant entered the court room this morning on a pair of crutches and owing to his condition was allowed to be seated while testifying. He admitted that he and Officer Small were on the lookout for people who were oversteering and at times the two

Only Question Now to be Determined is His Majority in the Electoral College — Electoral Vote Now, Wilson 276, Hughes 255

As announced exclusively in The Sun on Wednesday night, President Wilson has been re-elected, but now the only question to be determined is his majority in the electoral college. As the returns now stand Wilson has 276 electoral votes, while Hughes has 255. The Sun election experts announced yesterday that the probable electoral vote would be Wilson 273, Hughes 258. Now comes the returns from New Mexico, a state that was conditionally conceded to Hughes, showing that Wilson has won out there. Placing the three votes from this state in the Wilson column gives the present result.

While the official count is not yet on hand, the election of Wilson is not even now disputed by the republicans, who held out until this morning before admitting the defeat of their candidate.

H. L. CHALIFOUX WEDDED TODAY IN BOSTON

Special to The Sun

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Mr. Harold L. Chalifoux, president and treasurer of the J. L. Chalifoux Co. of Lowell, and Miss Elizabeth A. Burrage, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Burrage of 314 Commonwealth avenue were married at 1 o'clock this afternoon in St. Paul's cathedral, Tremont street, by Edmund S. Roussmaier, dean of the church. The single ring ceremony was used.

The church was filled with guests from all parts of the United States, including many from Lowell. The decorations were beautiful. There were lines of garlands, numerous potted plants and thousands of Easter lilies all over the cathedral.

The maid of honor was Miss Priscilla May. The bridesmaids were Misses Martha Rueter, Barbara Gale, Catherine M. Walker, Mrs. Harold D. Walker and Mrs. W. H. Coolidge, Jr. Thylis Pillsworth of South Bend, Indiana, was the flower girl.

The best man was James Curtis. The ushers were Albert C. Burrage, Jr., Russell Burrage, Paul Chalifoux, Harold D. Walker, W. H. Coolidge, Jr., Putnam Morrison, Leonard Wright and Edward Abbott.

The bride wore a gown of white duchess satin with rose point lace and a tulle veil caught up with orange blossoms and fastened with a diamond brooch, the gift of her mother and father. She also wore a diamond pin, the gift of the groom. The bride was given away by her father.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 314 Commonwealth avenue. Social circles in Boston, Brookline, New York and many places in the south and west were represented both in the church and at the house. The bride's father is a director in the copper trust and is one of the wealthiest men on Commonwealth avenue.

Harold L. Chalifoux resided with his mother, Mrs. Helen M., at 377 Wilder street, Lowell.

LATEST FROM CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—5512 precincts of 5570 in California gave: Hughes 462,618; Wilson, 465,794. Wilson's plurality, 3178.

THE ELECTORAL VOTE ON LATEST RETURNS

Here is the electoral vote as it stands on present returns. In the states marked with a star the returns are incomplete and the electoral vote is based on the returns already counted and estimates of the balance.

The only difference between this table and that which we published yesterday is that the 3 votes of New Mexico are changed from the Hughes to the Wilson column, giving the president 276 instead of 273.

BIG WILSON CELEBRATION IN LOWELL TOMORROW

The democratic city committee has made plans for the celebration of President Wilson's re-election in Lowell tomorrow evening in a way that shall recall the great political jubiliations of the past. There will be bands and red fire and speeches and cheers and a street parade that promises to be the biggest event of the kind for many years. The members of the committee that is planning for the event say that Lowell will not find it difficult to remember the great triumph of President Wilson. Humphrey O'Sullivan and Cornelius Cronin of the democratic city committee went to Boston this morning to perfect plans.

The parade will form at the Middlesex street depot about 7.30 and will proceed through Middlesex street, Central and Prescott to Merrimack square where a rousing half-hour rally will be held. It will then continue up Merrimack, Moody and Cabot streets and back to city hall where an open air rally will be held if the weather is favorable. If not the rally will be held in Associate hall. The full list of speakers has not yet been decided, but the public is promised a rare treat.

There will be no attempt to make the parade a partisan triumph. The democrats of Lowell feel that in the election of an American president all party considerations should be swept aside and they extend a most cordial invitation to all Lowell citizens, whether republican, progressive, democratic or anything else to join with them in observing the victory of President Woodrow Wilson in a way worthy of the patriotic Lowell spirit of the past and present.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 10, via London.—Several German newspapers, in commenting on Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's speech express the opinion that it opens the way for peace. The Tagblatt says the ideas for the future which the chancellor discussed are more important than the question who is guilty of having caused the war, and refers to the chancellor's remark that after the war humanity will demand measures to prevent recurrence of such conflicts.

"Whoever is convinced," the Tagblatt continues, "that the cry will go through humanity for a peaceful arrangement will not fail to make preparations for a great response to this great cry."

The Freischnige Zeitung says that the chancellor in all seriousness declares his readiness to collaborate in efforts to obtain international guarantees for lasting peace, adding: "Now is the time for the entente powers, especially Great Britain, to come forward with a program."

The Vorwaerts, the socialist organ, says that what the German government now desires is tolerably de Lourdes the chancellor expressed it in different words than Philipp Scheidemann, a socialist leader in the reichstag, who in a speech last month asserted the beligerent nations desired peace, but that the views of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg are no less clear than those of Philipp Scheidemann.

"In the chancellor's speech," the Vorwaerts continues, "one hears the first sound of the future rustling which will signalize the end of war's horrors."

Barrette, O.M.I. Funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertakers Amodeo Archambault & Son.

SANTA FE ATTACKS THE ADAMSON ACT

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 10.—A petition asking for an order enjoining the federal district attorney and "labor leaders" from putting the Adamson eight-hour bill into effect was filed in the federal district court of Kansas City, Kan., late yesterday in the name of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad.

The bill calls attention to agreements with train employees, none of which, it says, contemplate that the employee shall work a fixed number of hours, but, owing to the nature of train service, make the trip the basis of compensation.

The bill recites the circumstances surrounding the passage of the Adamson law and claims that it is a mere arbitrary increase in wages.

The law, the bill contends, is unconstitutional and void because it is not a regulation of interstate commerce; it is a mere experiment intended as a basis for further legislation, deprives the company of its liberty of contract and right of property without due process of law and is unworkable and uncertain.

SPRINGFIELD, Nov. 10.—Seven hundred democrats paraded through the business section last night in celebration of a Wilson victory, after which most of them hurried to the bulletin boards to find out how the vote in the crucial states was turning.

Red fire, American flags, a band, large corps and Wilson and Marshall banners helped to develop enthusiasm. The paraders executed the snake dance and shouted themselves hoarse in front of places considered to be the headquarters of the opposition.

SPECIAL OFFERING

EXTRA PANTS FREE

Down in the heart of New York's financial district where I sell more custom clothing in one day than I do in Lowell in a week, I recently tried out the experiment of making

TWO PAIRS OF TROUSERS

to a business suit. The deluge came upon me from the working man, business man, banks and mercantile offices. This special offer was for one day and it took my force a week to cut up the orders. It is the decision of the people that makes a business big or little, so I submit my crowded store in Lowell too, as evidence that

I Am Doing the Largest Tailoring Business In Your City

What better proof can a man ask than to see a tailoring business grow bigger year after year—aye, even years after the novelty has worn off. And aren't you coming to me today in greater numbers than ever before? Haven't I proved, to your satisfaction, that Mitchell, the Tailor, does expect to sell you clothes year after year? Haven't I done things for you to get you back the next time that were never done before in Lowell by any other concern without making charge for the service?

AND LAST BUT NOT LEAST, when I advertised a thing $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 or $18.00, didn't you always find that I stood ready to take your order at the advertised price without any ifs, ands or buts?

As I said before, tailoring is a hard game. I have seen all the imitators shoot across the skies and—spifficate, Boston didn't spifficate, New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Providence, Hartford, Worcester, Springfield or Buffalo, didn't spifficate. Lowell today is doing the biggest business in its history, because I give the people the best for their money that ready cash can buy.

Today and Saturday I Will Give You With Suit or Overcoat Order a Pair of Pants Free

I must beat the dullness following the national election.

The only condition I impose is that you ask for the pants before you leave the store, then I know you read my ads.

You may have the pants off the same goods as your suit or overcoat, or any other style you may select.

Ladies Attention!

I have ten styles of rough unfinished Scotch mixtures in overcoatings. I have seen these fabrics in ladies' ready-made specialty shops, marked $25.00 to $35.00. I will take your measure, make any style mannish coat, for auto or street wear, half satin lined, large collar, any length with belt and patch pockets, if desired for.

MADE RECORD YEAR

Savings Bank Life Insurance Shows a Premium Income of More Than $200,000

It was prophesied by the supporters of Savings Bank Life Insurance that the year 1916 would show a premium income of $200,000. That prophecy has been more than fulfilled. The premium income of the four insurance banks not only reached the $200,000 mark, but exceeded it by more than $13,900.

This makes a total premium income for the eight years since the plan was put into operation of $201,000. It is interesting to note, as evidence of the great conservatism of the management—that of this sum, seventy-five per cent, still remains in the banks and with the general insurance guaranty fund reserved for the benefit of the policyholders.

The insured business for the year just ended amounts to $2,178,111—an increase of 31 per cent. over the amount written during the preceding year.

The cancelled business for the year amounts to $484,477, so that the net gain for the year is $1,693,634.

The number of policies now in force exceeds fourteen thousand, representing more than six million dollars of insurance.

When it is remembered that in the savings bank system no policy can be issued for a larger amount than $1,000, and that most of the policies are for $500 and lesser amounts, it is obvious that this unique system is making excellent headway in the confidence of the people for whose benefit it was established.

Full information and rates may be had by applying at or writing to Savings Bank Life Insurance, 507 State House, Boston.

THE RURAL SCHOOL TERM

School attendance is of first consideration in a discussion of the rural school term. According to the state superintendent of public instruction of Louisiana, the Honorable T. H. Harris, a rural school term of six months with an average daily attendance of 100 per cent. is a longer and a better and a cheaper school term than a nine-month term with an average daily attendance of only 66 2-3 per cent. The United States commissioner of education agrees with the premise laid down by Superintendent Harris. Every agency should be used to improve rural school attendance before taxpayers are asked to bear the burden of increased taxation for a longer school term where poor attendance is tolerated. Georgia is the latest state to enact a compulsory school attendance law. Such an act was passed by the Georgia legislature and approved by Governor Harris August 19, 1916.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE
Today and tomorrow are the last chances for the theatergoers of this city to see "The Story of the Rosary," Walter Howard's great drama of love and war which has been playing to crowded houses all the week and which is the finest offering that Lowell has seen in many years. There are some good seats left for the remaining four performances. Seats are being held until 4 and 7:45 o'clock excepting for the Saturday performances when matinee reservations will be held until noon and tickets for the evening held until 4 in the afternoon.

"The Story of the Rosary" is a whole of a play. It is a gigantic success and its presentation by the Emerson Playhouse is beautiful. Ivan Miller is scoring a tremendous hit, while Harriet Duke is seen at her best and Millard Vincent, James Hayden, James T. Gallaway, Frank Wagner, and the others are doing well. Gertrude Shirley, Gladys McLeod, Ben Haddfield, Rose Morison and other members of the company appear in splendid characters and a superb scenic production is offered with all new and special effects and it is the most pretentious that Lowell has ever seen.

You cannot afford to delay in ordering your seats for this attraction because if you miss it your future will count as one of your biggest disappointments of the season. Phone 291 now. Don't hesitate.

Sunday afternoon and night at the Opera House, a splendid program of vaudeville and picture features will be offered the management having secured five big acts and as many reels of the newest and best releases in photoplays. The American Trio, a classy singing and talking act, is sure to make a tremendous hit, while Teddy and Currier in a singing and musical act is another sure thing. There are three other big acts making up a bill that will outshine any Sunday program ever offered in this city. There are just two performances, the matinee starting at 2:15 and the evening performance at 7:30 o'clock. The prices charged are 10, 15 and 25 cents.

Next week, by special arrangement with Mr. Frederic McKay, the Emerson Playhouse will present "Broadway and Buttermilk," a brilliant Broadway success which is now being played in all the big cities by Blanche Ring at two dollar prices. This is a comedy drama of rural life, the scenes of the play being laid in Maine and it was written by Willard Mack, author of "Kick In," "In Wyoming," "So Much for So Much," and other big American successes. It should prove the banner attraction of the season.

H. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Comedy, with hitting music, is the feature of this week's bill at the H. F. Keith Theatre. Roger Gray & Co. in "Undervillaged Musical Comedy" surely put over fun in a peppery manner and lots of jingling music, while "Bob" Delley and company interweave music with delicious comedy situations. And McIntosh and his musical maids furnish not only one of the most picturesque of acts but give delightful melodies. Added to these four top-line attractions, are the Miranos, the whirling aerial topographers, in one of the most novel acts, "Slings & Towsers," sing and dance, and the Larneds' sport on cycles. Arthur Hildy is a minstrel black face man. Yesterday the new Pathe News motion pictures were shown for the first time. They were exceptionally good. Seats may be secured in advance for the remaining performances. Phone 25.

MERRIMACK SQUARE
Louise Hud and Jack Pickford, costars in the five act drama "Seventeen," an interesting play which harkens the older patrons of this theatre back to the youthful days and youthful pictures when they were seventeen. In the play the young hero "borrows" his father's clothes so that he can elope with the maid of his heart. The play is a true life story, every detail and portrays the hopes, ambitions and dreams of youth in a most pleasing manner. This picture will be shown at Merrimack Square theatre today and tomorrow, as well as the five act play, "The Scarlet Oath," a powerful drama of Russia which features the popular Gail Kane. The Burton Holmes pictures and a comedy will also be presented at the same performances. Mary Pickford is coming to this theatre next week in her first "own play," "Less Than the Dust."

WITH HER OWN COMPANY
A brand new characterization is promised by Mary Pickford when she comes next week to the Merrimack Square theatre. Presented by the Mary Pickford Pictures corporation in "Less Than the Dust," Hector Turnbull, author of many photoplay successes, wrote the story for Mary Pickford to play. Laurence Hope's poem, which bears the same name as the new master production in which the famous star will be seen. He has made his heroine a little English castaway, whom misfortune takes to India, where the superstitious natives regard her as "less than the dust" beneath their feet.

The contrast between the conservative splendor of the English settings of the story and the picturesque atmosphere of modern India is realistically brought out by the costly production and notable supporting company of players which have been made at great expense this series of the new Mary Pickford productions from Arcraft is sure to be rewarded

ROYAL THEATRE
The topic dealt with in "The Yellow Menace" which is the underlined feature serial every Friday and Saturday at the Royal Theatre, is really the most important subject to put in the notice in the United States during the present generation. In a nutshell, it is the cause of preparedness against the so-called Yellow Peril, which at different times has seemed quite important. All Singh, the principal character role, played by Edwin Stevens, a sterling actor of the old school, represents what a sinister would-be world emperor might cause in trouble and horrors. The role is cleverly enacted and is worthy of special mention. The eleventh episode is entitled "The Half Breed's Hatred" and tells of an ally of All Singh who turns traitor because of cruelties he has suffered through his master. The events come with swift precision, and there is a good deal of "punch" throughout the entire episode. The eleventh episode of "Liberty" another preparedness serial, with Mexican surroundings, will also be shown. Starred here Marie Walcamp, Eddie Polo and Jack Holt, a well-known Universal trio. Other fine releases will complete a fine performance for the two remaining days of this week.

KEEPS HER CHILDREN IN PERFECT HEALTH

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the Family Laxative for Many Years

Mrs. Aug. Doellfeld of Carlyle, Ill., recently wrote to Dr. Caldwell, at Monticello, Ill., that she has used Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin in her home for a number of years, and would not be without it, as with it she has been able to keep her four children in perfect health.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts on the bowels in an easy, natural way, and regulates the action of this most important function. Nearly all the sickness to which children are subject is traceable to bowel inaction, and a mild, dependable laxative, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin should have a place in every family medicine chest. It is pleasant to the taste and children like it, and take it readily, while it is equally effective for adults.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold in drug stores everywhere for fifty cents a bottle. To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes, be sure you get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a fac-simile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on

Coming Sunday, a modernized fairy tale in four acts. Monday and Tuesday, Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne in "A Million a Minute."

OWL THEATRE
There is a distinctly new note struck in the photoplay, "A Daughter of the Sea," the feature attraction at the Owl theatre today and tomorrow. It reveals, among other things, the high quality of the artistic achievements of Muriel Astoriche, the dainty star of the production, a peculiarly fitting series of settings for the outdoor scenes of a remarkably interesting story, and in the plot itself a logical development of an idea which tends itself admirably to revelation on the screen. The scenes at the fishing village, the blowing up of the yacht, and the assumption by the heroine of the responsibility for a murder to save the sister of the boy she loves, are only a few of the striking features of this wonderful production.

The charming personality of the star, in addition to the dramatic ability she displays, lends itself admirably to the plot of the piece as well as to the pictorialization of the incidents, and she is ably supported by some of the excellent most valued character artists. The story of the play as it is unfolded on the screen is one of absorbing interest, the difference in life between wealth and poverty, and the wiping out of that difference by the power of love and self-sacrifice of the heroine, the final adjustment of the differences and difficulties, and the exquisite photography, all combine to make "A Daughter of the Sea" a gem which will shine far brighter than the average of even high class features.

STEAMER HITS ROCK AND SINKS IN CAPE COD CANAL

BUZZARDS BAY, Nov. 10.—The steamer Chippewa of the Clyde line, bound from Jacksonville, Fla., for Boston, struck a rock at the entrance of the Cape Cod canal early today and sank. Capt. Magee and his crew of 25 men reached shore safely. She carried no passengers. The Chippewa of 300 gross tonnage left Jacksonville on Nov. 4. She went aground near Jacksonville but was hoisted and proceeded and touched at Charleston, S. C., on Nov. 6. She was built in 1905. The canal passage was not blocked by the steamer. She lies in 20 feet of water on the southeast side of the canal entrance. Observers on shore said that the accident happened while the Chippewa was turning to make way for the steamer Henry M. Whitney, bound from New York for Boston. There was only one pilot available and he

RUSSIANS FIGHTING FOR FAMOUS BRIDGE

The campaign in Dobruja entered a new phase today, with the Russians reported within two miles of Tchernavoda and fighting for the famous bridge across the Danube there. This bridge, the only link of the kind between Dobruja and interior Rumania, was abandoned by the Russo-Rumanian army after its defeat last month by Field Marshal von Mackensen. After pursuing his beaten foe far to the north in Dobruja, von Mackensen apparently met vigorous resistance and within the last few days has been reported falling back. The position of the Russian advance guard yesterday was indicated as not more than a dozen miles north of the Constantza-Tchernavoda railroad line which crosses the Tchernavoda bridge and which, with the bridge itself, was the most important fruit of the Teutonic victory. Recent reports have shown Gen. von Falkenhayn gaining advantages in the vigorous drive he has been making at Rumania from the Transylvania frontier, and today Petrograd admits a Rumanian retirement of more than two and a half miles west of the Buzac valley on the northwest frontier. Near Predal, however, the Rumanians took the offensive in an enveloping movement on the Teutonic left flank. Heavy fighting is still in progress here and elsewhere in this war area. In northern France there has been notable artillery activity in the Somme region. Scouting operations by airplanes, probably in preparation for infantry movements, also assumed an important scope, according to indications in the Paris report. This announces French machines engaged in 77 fights in which three hostile air-

WHOLESALE OF PURE FOOD TO THE PEOPLE

A QUARTER CENTURY AGO

If the spirits of the illustrious dead participate in the concerns and cares of this transitory life, then somewhere high above us, in the spirit world today, the dear and venerated shade of old Marcellus H. Fletcher, ye ancient war horse of the Lowell democracy, is days gone by, is tossing his halo high over his head and perchance is doing an ethereal one-step with "Little Bright Eyes" seated on a gold-rimmed crown nearby playing a harp accompaniment, as the dream of his life has been realized—for Belvidere has gone democratic and has gone for good, and all time.

The old timers will readily recall old "Callus" Fletcher, who knew every democrat in Lowell, and for whom he had two original and well known classifications, and that the young men may know, I'll state that he was the war-horse of the local democracy for many years; the great organizer and hustler and man of all work of the party. He did all the work and never asked a cent for his services, nor received it. For many years Marcellus resided in Church street opposite the First Baptist church and in those days there were six wards in Lowell, Belvidere and the section in which Marcellus resided being in ward 6. Wards 1 and 2 were democratic, 4 and 5 safely republican, while 6 was slightly republican. It was the ambition of Marcellus and his accepted life work, to make ward 6 democratic and to gain his end he attempted to colonize it, and to colonize it legitimately. Having plenty of time on his hands he went around the ward until he became acquainted with every lodging house and the price of rooms, and he knew when and where there were empty tenements in the ward and the rent thereof. Then he went among the unmarried democrats who were living in the hopelessly republican wards and to some of the safely democratic sections, urging them to change their residences and room in ward 6, and he succeeded in getting quite a number of them to do so. If any young democrat intended to marry and Marcellus heard about the happy event before the young couple had decided where to locate, he'd be sure to get them to expatriate upon the advantages of a little home in Belvidere, "soon to be a democratic ward," as "Callus" would always assure them. They began to colonize and pretty soon the democrats elected one member to the common council and then two, and then three and the republicans became alarmed. Finally, in 1882, I believe, it looked so good for the democrats in the coming city election, after the vote recorded by the ward in the previous state election that the republicans becoming desperate decided to save the common council at all costs and prevailed upon four republican ex-mayors of Lowell to run as candidates for the common council, to preserve the reputation of Belvidere as a republican stronghold, and the candidates were ex-Mayors, Greenhalve, Scott, Richardson and Johnson, for their four councilmen elected from each ward.

The joy of Marcellus knew no bounds when on the night of the city election it was announced that ward 6 had elected as members of the common council, Lawrence J. Smith, Thaddeus S. Cobb, J. Frank Page and Michael E. Clark, all democrats, and the four ex-mayors, the Big Four, as they were called, had gone down in defeat.

From that time on, ward 6 became known as a democratic ward, but in later years, 1895, I believe the city was re-divided into nine wards and the republican legislature, who did the job made it certain that Belvidere was returned to the republican ranks.

But Marcellus charged the change up to the fortunes of war and remarked: "There's plenty of young democrats who can live as happily in Belvidere as anywhere else and we'll make Belvidere democratic once more, by Heck!" But Marcellus passed away while his old ward was still in the republican ranks and thus when it was announced on Tuesday night in the election room at city hall, that the old ward was once more safely democratic, John C. King cried out to Geo. F. Pearson of the election department, an old friend of Mr. Fletcher, and "a believed!" "Hey, George, call up Marcellus in the spirit land and tell him that ward 6 has gone democratic once more!" The dream of his life has been realized.

THE OLD TIMER.

WOMEN'S PARTY IN DESPAIR OVER THE ELECTION

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Despair lay heavy over the headquarters of the Woman's party yesterday, at 11 East Forty-first street. This is the organization which set out to entame the western women voters against President Wilson because of his failure to endorse federal woman suffrage.

The returns from the western states show with almost brutal frankness that the women voters did not respond to the suffrage call.

Miss Kathleen Taylor, who conducted the campaign against the democrats in Kansas, returned to headquarters yesterday afternoon, tired out, but making a brave attempt to find the silver lining.

"We did what we set out to do," she declared. "We scared the politicians. We taught them that the women's vote was an important factor in the election."

"What's the matter with those western women? Why didn't they stand up for suffrage?" Miss Taylor's friends demanded.

"He kept us out of war," she responded dolefully. "That was the only thing those women would listen to. I told the republican campaign managers in Kansas that that slogan was going to swing the women's vote, and they only laughed and said 'nonsense, the women of Kansas could be counted on to vote as the men did, and it was a safe republican state.' So they wouldn't give me any helpers."

Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, who campaigned in Colorado, is expected home today. She stopped off in Topeka, Kan., long enough to cast a vote on election day, and will now be able to tell her envious New York sisters just how it felt. There was talk Wednesday morning of a luncheon in honor of Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Woman's party, and her helpers, but something happened to that luncheon when the late returns came in. No one had anything to say about it today.

MINERAL DEPOSITS IN NEVADA.

Twenty-nine mining districts in eastern Nevada are described in a report recently issued by the U. S. Geological Survey, department of the interior, as Bulletin 648, "Notes on Some Mining Districts in Eastern Nevada," by J. M. Hill. These districts are widely scattered through an area extending from the northern part of the state to the extreme southern part, in southeastern Clark county. Not much has heretofore been known about the geologic features of the ore deposits in these districts, because they are relatively inaccessible or undeveloped.

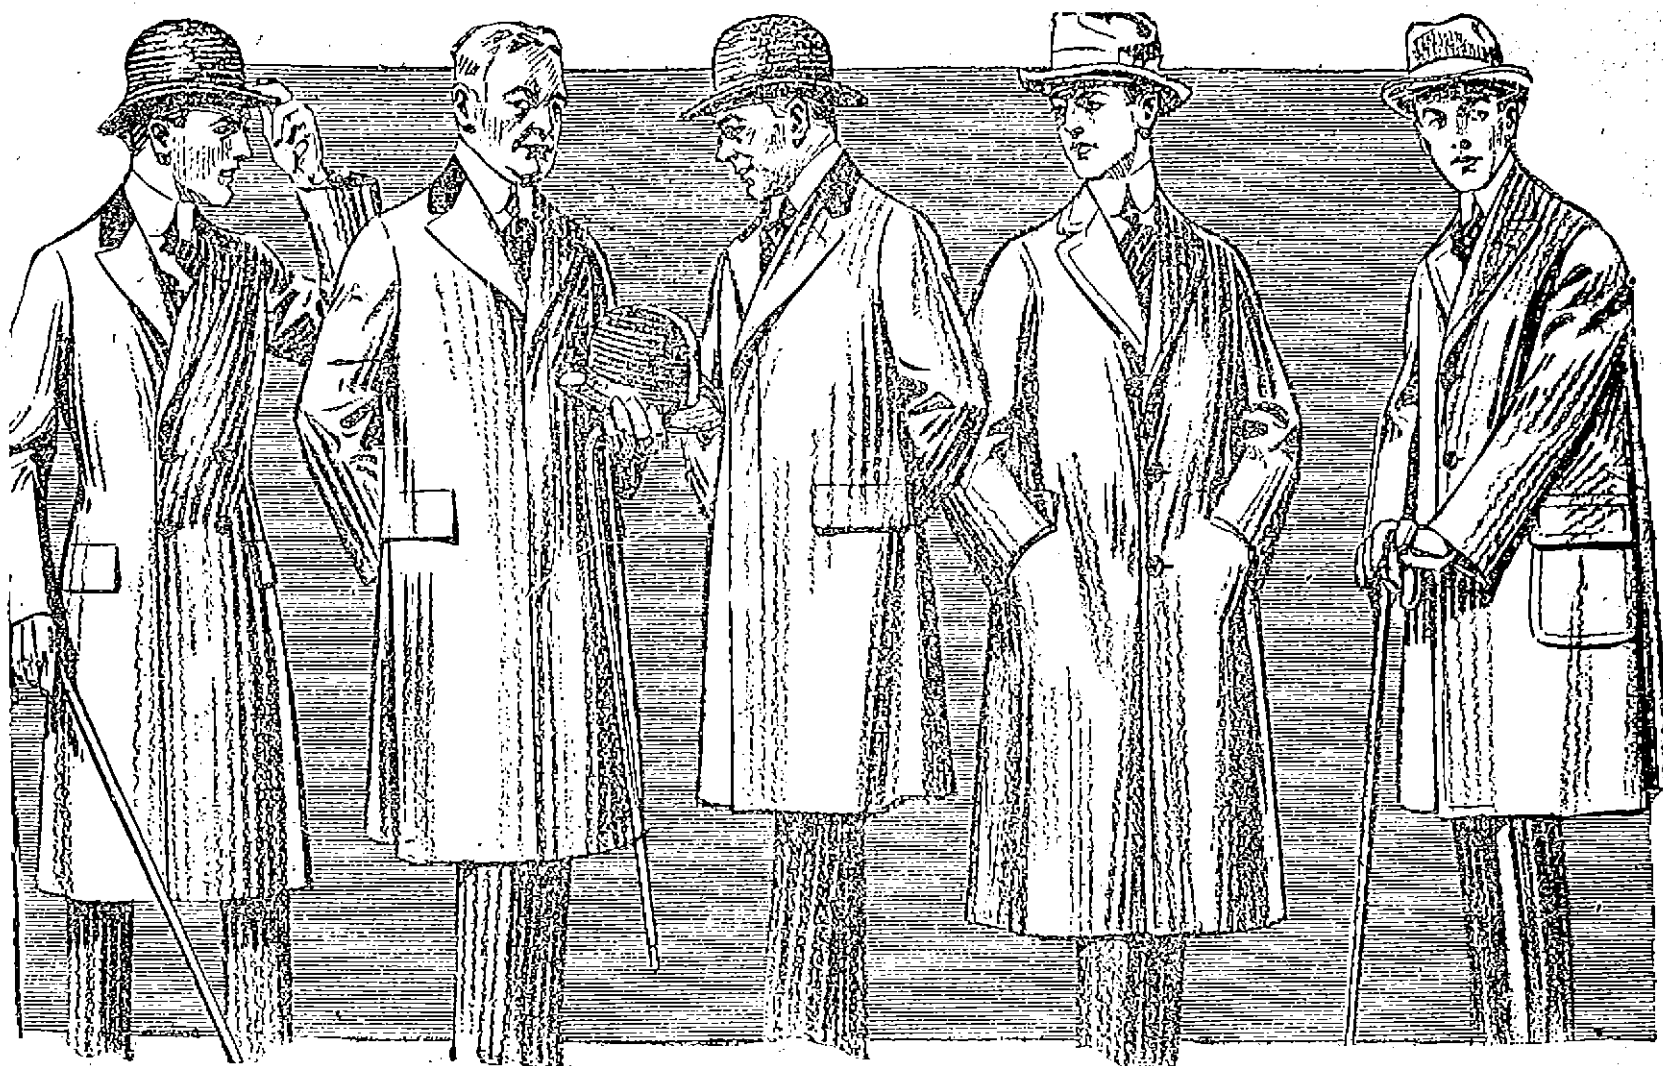

Silver, lead, copper and gold are the principal valuable metals found, but tungsten and bismuth also are known to occur. Many of the deposits were found in the early sixties, when the rich oxidized ores were worked, but others have since been discovered from time to time, valuable ore bodies having been found as recently as 1911.

According to this report most of the ore deposits occur in sedimentary rocks that border intrusions of granites or porphyries. Gold and silver are found in Tertiary volcanic rocks of other parts of Nevada, but only one deposit of precious metal—a free milling gold ore—has so far been found in such rocks in this region.

The report is chiefly a record of facts, most of which are of local and practical interest. It is intended as a guide to those who wish to know something of the geologic occurrence, character and stage of mining development of the ore deposits in the districts examined.

BROADWAY CLUB HELD ANNIVERSARY BANQUET

JEREMIAH J. O'SULLIVAN,
Toastmaster

REP. DENNIS A. MURPHY,
Presented Watch

The Broadway Social and Athletic club celebrated its second anniversary last evening with a banquet in Highland hall and the affair, like all others conducted under the auspices of this organization, was a success in every particular. Though formed but two years ago, the Broadway club has advanced with leaps and bounds and today it is looked upon as one of the most prominent in this city.

The members and guests, 175 in all, first assembled at the clubrooms in Broadway, and then, led by President Timothy F. O'Sullivan, marched to the scene of the festivities. No time was lost in formally opening the exercises and after all had assembled around the festive board, the first "number" on the program, the dinner, was served. The menu was an excellent one, including turkey with all the fixings. After the inner man had been satisfied, Pres. O'Sullivan opened the post-prandial exercises by extending a cordial welcome to all. He thanked the guests, the speakers, the talent and all others, who by their presence last evening as well as on other occasions helped the club in any way. He congratulated the organization upon the success of the anniversary and expressed his gratitude to the committee in charge for providing such a splendid entertainment.

Toastmaster O'Sullivan

The president then introduced Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan, Esq., toastmaster. The latter thanked the committee for selecting him for their presiding officer, and congratulated all who had in any way assisted in making the affair such a grand success. Mr. O'Sullivan then gave a brief but interesting history of the club. He said that the chief purpose of the association was the development of the literary, social and athletic opportunities of its personnel. That the objects of the founders have been accomplished, he said, was evident by the appearance and actions of all present. Politics is barred from the club, he added, but men who hold political office are welcome provided they discuss other subjects. From an original membership of but 45, the organization has grown until its rolls number 145 and the club has nearly $1000 in the treasury.

In performing the arduous duties of chairman, Mr. O'Sullivan showed exceptional ability, and his introductions were very apt and graceful. The assembly then sang several popular selections, after which Commissioner James E. Donnelly sang some of his favorites and he was enthusiastically applauded. The principal speaker of the evening, William H. Sullivan, Esq., of Roxbury, was then introduced and he arose amid applause. After paying a tribute to his friend, Representative Dennis A. Murphy, who invited him to the banquet, he eloquently dealt with the attributes upon which true success in life is founded. He spoke in part as follows:

Mr. Sullivan's Remarks

I have traveled in Europe. I have journeyed in every state in our own Union with the exception of five. I have attended college and law school, seeking an education, and yet today I believe that the greatest education a man can have may come from running for office in a large city. In politics, I have rubbed shoulders with all sorts of people. I have met the wanderer and the gentle fellow who doesn't care to vote unless there is something in it for him.

Man is the greatest of God's creatures, or the weakest. He is the only one of them all who can choose between the highest possible success and the lowest possible failure. And the greatest of studies is man.

Fortitude, courage, honesty and persistence are qualities which man must cultivate for success. Some people think that man must fight in wars to be a hero, but I say that it requires more courage to be an honest man in public life than is required in battle. Never before have we needed honest men in public life as now. There are great and glorious opportunities today for such men.

There are young men here tonight who are on the threshold of affairs, ambitious for a place among their fellowmen. They are inclined to honesty, but when they look about them, they see numbers of dishonest men apparently achieving and gaining the great things in life. But I say that this is not succeeding. Life is brief, but time is never so short but that dishonest public men may not have truth seek them out, baring their true characters.

What is the greatest asset a man may have? Some people will say it is wealth, some social position, some one thing and some another. But many have all these and are failures. One hundred million others, without money or position, have won and proved their genuine manhood.

An honest man is said to be the noblest work of God, not necessarily a man honest with money, but one who is honest with his life and character. That is real success. Success does not mean riches or fame in public life, but rather it means the respect of one's fellow man and family. A man possessing these is far more to be revered than many of those whose names appear in our daily newspapers.

Whatever a man sows, he shall reap, and I say to you: Sow honor and justice, and your harvest shall exceed your expectations. This is something better than fame and power; it means joy and approval by your conscience; it means the honor and esteem of your fellow men.

The Presentation

Joseph Perry was next called upon for a song and he responded in a fitting manner. At this point, the big feature of the evening occurred. It was not down on the program, but it was the most enjoyable part of the entertainment. When the toastmaster signalled to the committee, the latter went to the head table and escorted Rep. Dennis A. Murphy to the center of the hall. Then Mr. O'Sullivan, after paying an eloquent tribute to the representative, presented him a beautiful gold watch, chain and charm. The toastmaster said that he knew that he expressed not only his own, but the sentiments of all present, when he said that the residents of Ward 2 considered Rep. Murphy the best representative in the state. He said: "You are known to all of us as a man who always tells the truth, one ever ready to assist all who go to you to ask a favor. By your acts and deeds you have endeared yourself to every man, woman and child of the neighborhood. As this year your district has been changed, we no longer can claim you as our own and hence with our goodness tonight there is mingled a little sadness. While we know that you will be respected by those in the new parts of your district, we assure you that nowhere will you find such loyal friends as you have in old Ward 2." The re-client was visibly affected, but he thanked his friends from the bottom of his heart for the gift and assured them that he would be as he always has been, ever ready to assist any and all of his friends.

Three cheers and a tiger, that rocked the hall, were given for the popular representative.

The toastmaster then read a letter of regret from His Honor, Mayor James E. O'Donnell, who is confined to his home by illness. The mayor congratulated the club for its success and wished it continued prosperity.

Col. Humphrey O'Sullivan spoke in a congratulatory manner and urged all to take advantage of the opportunities afforded them for advancement. He illustrated several cases of where a young man, who by perseverance and a little extra effort has become famous in this country. Other speakers included Commissioner Charles Morse, Register of Deeds William C. Purcell, Representative Eket Charles H. Slovery and William H. Sullivan of the Sun. Songs were given by James Shagure, Dan Mollo, Thomas Delmore, Fred Bamford and Martin Feehey, with William Facille as accompanist, while the affair was brought to a close with all standing and singing the Star Spangled Banner.

The committee in charge of the banquet was composed of the follow-

77 AERIAL COMBATS FOUGHT YESTERDAY

A FOKKER AND NINE OTHER GERMAN AEROPLANES BROUGHT DOWN

There was intermittent artillery fighting on various sections of the front and also infantry skirmishing.

SAY WAR ALREADY WON BY THE ALLIES

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Two optimistic views of the war from the point of view of the allies are given a prominent place in the morning newspapers.

The first is a quotation from the speech made at the lord mayor's banquet last night by Field Marshal Viscount French. The field marshal said:

"It seems that the contest is approaching a climax, to come either now or in the spring. We must remember, however, that a climax and an end are not necessarily the same thing."

The second opinion was expressed by Gen. Alexs. Brussiloff, who, speaking to a British correspondent at Russian headquarters, said:

"The war is won today. It is merely a question of speculation as to how much longer it will be before the enemy is convinced that their cause is irretrievably lost."

The general added that he spoke with authority in declaring that the whole of Russia, from the emperor to the humblest soldier, was determined to protest, help and support Rumania in every possible way.

"Russia will see," he said, "that our brave little ally does not suffer for expounding the cause of the allies."

was hurt and he was in bed several days, they said.

The boy himself was again called to the stand and asked to show the jury which eye was hurt. He said as far as he could remember it was his right eye and his attorney, John L. Sheehan, then made him stand close to the jury box and exhibit that eye to the juryman. The trial will be continued this morning.

FIRE TESTS OF ALL KINDS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Fire tests of all kinds of building walls and partitions, which are expected to have an important bearing on all fire-resisting building construction, have been arranged by the United States bureau of standards. They will be carried out with a newly installed panel furnace recently constructed at the bureau's laboratories here, which is the most complete and largest plant for such work ever built. Details of the tests, such as types and dimensions of partitions, temperature to which they are to be exposed, time of exposure to fire, the water test to which the heated partitions should be subjected and other regulations, have been worked out by a committee representing the American Institute of Architects, the American Society for Testing Materials, the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the Associated Metal Lath Manufacturers, the Gypsum Industries association, the National Brick Manufacturers association, the Association of American Portland Cement manufacturers, the Fire Underwriters' laboratories, the American Concrete Institute, the National Fire Protection association and the National Lime Manufacturers association.

BOY CHASED FROM ROOF BRINGS SUIT

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—James E. Rodd, 10 years old, testified in the superior court before Judge King and a jury yesterday that when he climbed to the roof of the block at 25, 27 and 29 Hinkley street, Roxbury, to regain his baseball, which had landed there during a game, he was chased by Mrs. Rose Ginsberg, owner of the property, with a stick, and put in such fear that he fell from the roof to the yard below. He was painfully hurt, he said, and is now suing for $5000 damages.

The boy, being a minor, brought suit through his father, Walter L. Rodd. The affair happened May 15, 1914, the boy and his parents testified. One eye

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL HAS SPECIAL MEETING

A special meeting of the municipal council was held this morning at 10.35 with Commissioner Duncan presiding in the absence of Mayor O'Donnell, who is confined to his home by illness. Some important matters that were to have been acted on were postponed until the mayor is able to be present, and it is hoped that he will be able to preside at the next meeting.

The Bay State dye house petitioned for a gasoline license on Howe street; Charles A. Cote petitioned for a gasoline license on Coral street; Charles M. Cunningham petitioned for a garage and gasoline license on Nennith street. Hearings on the three petitions will be given Nov. 28.

A communication was received from the park commission asking for a transfer of $100 from the appropriation for parks to the appropriation for the care of trees. Commissioner Duncan suggested that Mr. Donnelly bring in an order to this effect at the next meeting, and he signified his willingness to do so.

John O'Brien sent a supplementary notice of claim for personal injuries received on Oct. 9 on Highland street when he fell over the roof of a tree, and it was referred to the city solicitor.

A communication was read from the park commission protesting against the dumping of snow and street refuse on the fringes of the parks and commons during the winter months. The latter stated that the practice is costly to the park department, is injurious to the parks and is a bad influence on the community. The matter was referred to Commissioner Morse.

Commissioner Donnelly stated that he had meant to bring before the meeting the bids for the construction of the contagious hospital, but as it comes directly under the mayor's direction he thought action should not be taken until the mayor is present. Commissioner Putnam suggested that in case the mayor is absent at the next meeting the commissioner should ascertain his views so that action may be taken without unnecessary delay. The meeting adjourned until next Tuesday at 10 a. m. Subsequently

COALITION FOR PREVENTION OF WAR

BERLIN, Nov. 10, by wireless to Sayville.—The speech of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, before the reichstag main committee yesterday in which he announced Germany's willingness, under certain conditions, to co-operate in efforts to form an international league of peace after the war, was followed by a debate on the chancellor's remarks. In the course of this discussion a number of the socialist party said that in all countries the idea that there should be an end to war was gaining ground. The chancellor was correct in stating that the cry for international treaties to prevent recurrence of war would become so strong that eventually it must lead to results.

The speaker said that formerly Germany had attached less importance than France and England to the idea of arbitration. The chancellor had expressed fear that England would frame a peace coalition in accordance with her own desires. Nevertheless the principle ought to be recognized as right.

It was an important point, the socialist member continued, that the chancellor never had spoken of the annexation of Belgium as essential. Germany was at war for defence and not for conquest he said and it would be of advantage if Germany should take the lead in a coalition for the prevention of war.

CLUB LAFAYETTE
Lots of Fun and Good Cheer at First in the Series of "Sing" Parties to be Conducted During the Winter

The well appointed quarters of Club Lafayette in Merrimack street were last evening the scene of a great joyous occasion, the affair being in the form of a "Sing" party, the first in a series to be conducted during the winter season. The event was attended by about 100 members and as many friends and proved most enjoyable.

The evening's program consisted of musical and literary numbers by the club talent and guests and under the direction of Ernest J. Dupont everything was conducted in a most satisfactory manner. Those who participated in the program were John H. Starbuck of Haverhill, an entertainer of high range; C. Boyle of this city, a young man possessed of a very pleasing baritone voice; Ernest J. Dupont, Dr. G. E. Caisse, Albert J. Blazon, Arthur L. Eno, P. N. Labelle and others.

In the course of the evening a buffet luncheon was served, while billiards, pool and other amusements were enjoyed. One of the features of the pool game was a contest between Rosario Lavallee and Joseph Gagnon, two pool "champs" who greatly interested the spectators with their marvellous shots. The palm for the game went to Mr. Lavallee. Those responsible for the success of the evening were Albert J. Blazon, president and E. J. Dupont, secretary, who were ably assisted by the directors of the organization.

SAYS GERMANY IS CERTAIN OF FINAL VICTORY

AMSTERDAM, via London, Nov. 10.—Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, in his speech before the reichstag committee yesterday expressed the conviction that Germany was certain of final victory according to reports of the session published here. The chancellor is quoted as saying: "England and France in 1915 guaranteed to Russia territorial rule over Constantinople, the Bosphorus and the western shores of the Dardanelles with its hinterland, while Asia Minor was to be divided among the members of the entente. The annexation intentions of our enemies also include Alsace-Lorraine, which the League of Peace is to guarantee them. Such a policy of course cannot form a basis for an effective peace union. Germany is ready at all times to join a union of the peoples and even to place herself at the head of such a union to restrain a disturber of the peace. Not in the shadow of Prussian militarism did the world live before the war, but in the shadow of a policy of isolation which was to keep Germany down.

"Against this policy, whether it appears diplomatically as an encirclement, militarily as a war of destruction, or economically as a world boycott, we, from the beginning, were on the defensive. The German people wage this war as a defensive war for the safety of its national existence for its free development. We never pretended anything else, never intended anything else. Not otherwise can be explained this display of gigantic force, this inexhaustible heroism exemplified in all human history.

"The enemy obstinately wills to war with the calling up of military material and auxiliary forces from all parts of the world. These efforts harden our resistance to still greater determination.

Whatever England can still bring up of strength—and England's command of strength has its limits—it is predestined to fail before our will to live. This will is unconquerable, and we await the enemy's recognition of this, confident that this recognition must come."

LOWELL BOY BACK FROM THE WAR ZONE

Joseph Leo Rousseau, 19 years old and residing in Cumberland road, this city, is home again after serving over a year in the British army and navy in the great European war. The young man is grateful to Congressman Rogers, to whom he owes his release.

Young Rousseau enlisted in the British army a little over a year ago, leaving a dependent mother in this city. Shortly after his enlistment his mother sought the services of Congressman Rogers to have her boy returned to her for she claimed he enlisted while a minor and that he was an American subject, having been born in this city. The matter was taken up by the congressman with the state department authorities at Washington and carried as far as the British admiralty.

It meant some work on the part of Congressman Rogers to obtain the boy's release, for what is known as dual citizenship was involved, that is the boy was born in the United States but of Canadian parents and accordingly, England claimed him as one of her subjects. A couple of weeks ago, while Congressman Rogers was still endeavoring to obtain the boy's release, Rousseau sent a letter to Agent Richardson of the Lowell Humane society, asking him to do all in his power to have the boy returned to the states. By the time Mr. Richardson received the letter, however, Rousseau had been released and was on his way to his native city.

Rousseau has seen service in the King's Royal Heavy artillery and was once wounded in the leg by flying pieces of a shrapnel. Later, after recuperating from his injuries, he was transferred to the navy and sent aboard the battleship "Queen Elizabeth" to the Dardanelles, where he saw heavy fighting. The young man is enjoying good health. He says he will never return to the front and he advises the lovingly inclined to remain at home.

HUMPHREY O'SULLIVAN COMMENDS THE SUN

The Sun's announcement of President Wilson's election on Wednesday caused considerable controversy among the politicians around town yesterday and last night. Some maintained that The Sun had no authority for its early decision that Wilson was elected; but the real dopesters realized how the conclusion was worked out from the percentage of Wilson's lead in the western states. An advertising man who peruses a large number of newspapers says The Sun, so far as he knows, was the first paper in the country to make a positive announcement of Wilson's election. Mr. Humphrey O'Sullivan shares the same view.

Speaking of Wilson's election and the Sun's campaign work Mr. O'Sullivan said:

"The re-election of President Wilson was a great blessing for the country. It assures a sound, healthy expansion of American business and gives a reasonable hope for a continuation of peace and prosperity. I tender my compliments to The Lowell Sun, its proprietor and its editors for their splendid assistance throughout the campaign."

Lack of fresh air, it is said, weakens the oxygen carrying power of the blood, the liver becomes sluggish, fat accumulates in the system, many of the vital organs are hindered thereby. The heart action becomes weak, work is an effort and the beauty of the figure is destroyed. Fat put on by indoor life is unhealthy and if nature is not assisted in throwing it off, a serious case of obesity may result that you are getting too stout, take the matter in hand at once. Don't wait until your figure has become a joke and your health ruined through carrying around a burden of unsightly and unhealthy fat. Spend as much time as you possibly can in the open air, breathe deeply, take out from your refrigerator a box of oil of korein capsules, take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

High yourself every few days and keep up the treatment until you are down to normal. Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps the digestion and often a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight. A. W. Davis & Co. can supply you.

NEW YORK STRIKERS INDICTED YESTERDAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Five former employees of the Interborough Rapid Transit company were indicted by a general session court grand jury yesterday in connection with the alleged plots to dynamite property of the corporation. They were arrested last week by detectives who investigated the explosion which wrecked the platform of a Lenox avenue subway station, injuring four persons, in October. The defendants, who are under $20,000 bond each, are Lawrence Rubla, George Pollak and James J. Murns, subway guards until the strike began in September, and Michael Herlihy and Benjamin S. Hamilton, former elevated guards. Indicted with them today were Thomas J. McGuire of Caldwell, N. J., a chauffeur, and a seventh man whose identity was not made public. Officers of a local branch of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric railroad employees were ordered to turn over to the district attorney the local records, in connection with police statements that some of the local funds were used to purchase dynamite.

PLAN REVISION OF CAR SERVICE RULES

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 10.—That a revision of the car service rules of the country's railroads is under consideration was brought out in the testimony of George Hodges, chairman of the car service commission of the American Railway association, one of the last witnesses to appear today at the hearings being held here in connection with an investigation by the interstate commerce commission into the exchange and return of freight cars. Revision designed to correct certain abuses, had already been prepared, he said, and would be placed before a meeting of the American Railway association Nov. 15 at Denver. The primary cause of the existing car shortage, Mr. Hodges declared to be the unusual volume of export shipments, coupled with the irregularity of steamship arrivals, resulting in the holding of cars for long periods at seaports.

The testimony of shippers was completed this morning. It dealt largely with the serious conditions by which they declared, industrial and public service plants are faced, as a result of their inability to get sufficient supplies of coal.

EMPLOYMENT PROBLEMS AND HOW TO SOLVE THEM

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Of particular interest to those concerned with the various phases of employment problems in this country are the proceedings of the conference of the Employment Managers' Association of Boston, held May 10, 1916, which appear in Bulletin 293 recently issued by the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics. The purpose of this conference was to bring together those actively engaged in the work of employment management in order to effect an interchange of ideas and experiences.

Attending the conference were representatives from nine states, principally the New England states, which comprise the territory of the Boston association. Throughout the conference it was apparent that the personnel problems were considered of much importance as problems affecting sales, finances and production, and as deserving of the expert attention of a competent executive having sufficient authority and enjoying the confidence of the management.

In an informal address, Elizabeth Stewart, chief statistician of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics, called attention to the lack of uniformity in methods of keeping records of labor turnover and urged the importance of employment departments knowing why men quit in order that methods may be adopted to check the turnover, stabilize the labor force and reduce to a minimum the annoyance and expense of hiring and firing men.

As to the sources of supply of labor and means of getting in touch with them, it was brought out in a paper on this subject that workers may be secured from among the friends and relatives of those already on the payroll, from competitive firms, through employment agencies, through charitable institutions and from those formerly employed in the plant.

In the matter of selection, examination, training and development of employees, it was suggested that in choosing applicants consideration should be given to physical qualifications, adaptation, mental attitude toward the job, honesty, industry, intelligence, health, neatness, cleanliness and temperament; that job analysis is essential; that psychological tests are valuable in the selection of employees, especially for the high-grade positions; that workers should be trained in the plant through the medium of apprenticeship classes and then promoted to better positions, thus encouraging efficient effort.

The questions of transfer from one department to another and of discharge were suggested as very important in affecting the labor turnover. Emphasis was laid upon the relationship between employer and employee, which should be such as to avoid all chances of dissatisfaction and discord which make it difficult for the firm to handle the workers. The education of employees in the plant was regarded as of greater importance than original selection.

Methods for improving the efficiency and quality of personnel were given consideration. To secure this result courtesy should be shown to employees; they should be selected and examined expeditiously; an eligible list should be kept; quits, discharges and transfers should be analyzed and careful oversight maintained of all employees at work and at home; promotions within the ranks, pensions, working conditions and welfare work should all receive careful attention.

The impossibility of a superintendent giving proper attention to hiring and "firing" employees was recognized, and to avoid the economic loss due to promiscuous employment methods the functionalized employment department has been established, its duties being to secure applicants, weed out the undesirable and select those fitted for the work to be done, to maintain complete record of each employee, to act as a clearing house for the transfer and promotion of employees, to make regular reports to the management, and to make such studies, reports and recommendations as may be required for the interests of the concern.

WALL STREET ACCEPTS ELECTION AS SETTLED

AN UNMISTAKABLE TURN AWAY FROM POLITICAL INFLUENCE MANIFESTED

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—An unmistakable turn away from political influences was manifested by today's stock market. Wall street evidently accepted the national election as a settled fact and proceeded with the bullish enthusiasm of recent days.

There were some nominal declines at the opening, but these were more than counterbalanced by the strength were together while at other times he was some distance up the road and Officer Small was at another point.

Witness said he was walking along the road on the night in question when he heard a loud noise which he recognized as a motor being cut out and immediately saw a machine coming towards him travelling at the rate of about 15 miles an hour. Officer Grant said he held up his hand to have the defendant stop, but instead of stopping Hoyle ran into him and knocked him down.

The witness was cross-examined at considerable length by Lawyer George H. Allard, who appeared for the defendant, relative to the speed at which the machine was going at the time, but witness qualified himself as an expert on motor vehicles, being well acquainted with automobiles, and was able to figure distances, speeds, revolutions per minute and also the gearing of motor vehicles.

Officer Small corroborated the testimony offered by his brother officer. He said that Officer Grant was struck by the side car operated by the defendant. There was a woman in the side car at the time of the accident.

The defendant, when called to the stand said that he was going but 20 miles an hour. He said he was going down a hill and owing to the fact that his brakes were not working he threw into second speed, thereby reducing the speed of his motor vehicle. He said that his compression was poor and the reason he did not stop after striking the officer was on account of the brakes. He said he did not realize that the man who held his hand up was an officer as he had turned from the centre of the road to the left in order to avoid him, thinking the man was going to cross the street.

The court after considering the testimony in the case imposed a fine of $150. An appeal was taken. Frederick A. Fisher appeared for the town of Chelmsford and George H. Allard represented the defendant.

Wife Saves Husband

Mrs. William J. Lally complained that her husband had not supported her in a proper manner and after she told her story and Judge Dwight had sentenced the man to four months in the house of correction at Cambridge she told the court that she would be willing to give him a chance if he would do better and on the appeal of the woman the court withdrew the sentence and gave the defendant a suspended sentence of six months in the house of correction on condition that he pay his wife $5 a week.

Marchand Released

Arthur Marchand was charged with having assaulted Edward Charette last July. He entered a plea of not guilty several days ago and inasmuch as the complainant has not put in an appearance, he being in Oldtown, Maine, the man was released.

Other Offenders

Michael Gilday, who has spent several months in the woods of New Hampshire, blew into Lowell two days ago with a roll of $100. He met several friends and after treating them royally was sent to the station for being drunk. When he started to check up his earnings he found that he had spent $55. The court found the man guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $15.

Thomas F. Hughes, who was arrested on a capias for the non-payment of a $2 fine was continued until tomorrow morning.

Ellen Costello and Elizabeth McDermol, who were on parole from the state farm, will be returned to that institution. Michael White was given a direct sentence to the state farm.

George Adams admitted that he was a vagrant and had no visible means of support. He said he wanted to go to the state farm. His request was granted.

GLIDDEN SUES HIS PARTNER FOR $50,000

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—A discovery of a method to beat the stock market was announced yesterday, when the suit of Charles J. Glidden was entered in the Suffolk superior court against Harry F. Wickham of Honolulu who, Glidden claims, failed to carry out his agreement to back the system with $50,000.

CHARLES J. GLIDDEN

Glidden says that no fixed price can be put upon his method, but he places his damages for loss of prospective profits at $50,000.

Under the contract, Glidden says, he and Wickham were to be partners in the business of brokers and advisers, and were to carry accounts for persons in accordance with the "method" conceived by Glidden. After the latter had withdrawn sums to the amount of $22,000 from the business, then both were to share equally in the profits and losses.

Glidden says that he agreed not to disclose his system to anyone, but Wickham has not done so. He was to teach Wickham all the intricacies of the method, so that he might become equally proficient with him in the interpretation of it. Wickham failed to put up the $50,000, it is claimed.

WOMAN IN POLICE COURT TELLS SAD STORY OF HUSBAND'S NEGLECT

John M. Hebert, an elderly woman, told a harrowing tale of neglect before Judge Bright in police court this morning. She stated how she had lived from hand to mouth from time to time when her husband refused to contribute to her support, how she had worked long hours in a store to accumulate money and was finally forced into bankruptcy and that she lived in a shack for several months and had to borrow money to pay her carfare to appear in court this morning on the complaint which she entered against him.

The complaint was one of neglect of wife, the defendant being the husband, Edward Hebert. Arthur F. Reed of Boston appeared for the complainant, the defendant being represented by A. O. Hamel.

Mrs. Hebert during the course of her testimony said that she had lived at Randolph, Mattapan and Silver Lake, and came to this city a short time ago at the solicitation of her husband. A short time ago she awoke and found a note on the table which said that he was coming to Lowell. She followed him and upon meeting him in this city they took up their place of abode in a lodging house in Appleton street, but they did not stay there long. She said that he took her to a place in South street where the conditions were so filthy that she could not live there.

"Your Honor," she said, "we moved four times in four weeks. I have lived for several days at a time without having a morsel of food to put in my mouth, and when I came to court this morning I had to borrow money to pay my carfare. I lived in a camp for a long time and had to take care of myself while he was away and offered me no support."

During the course of the testimony it was brought out that the defendant is employed at the East Somerville engine house of the Boston & Maine railroad and makes at least $24 a week. Stories of jealousy and various other troubles were brought out during the course of the testimony. Mrs. Hebert told how she had made $1600 in a year conducting a store at Silver Lake and that she turned over every cent of it to her husband.

After the testimony had been submitted to the court Judge Bright found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay his wife $7 a week, placing him in the custody of the probation officer.

OLDEST MAN IN MAINE DEAD

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 10.—Deacon El-nathan F. Duren, the oldest man in Maine, who would have been 103 years old on Jan. 14, 1917, died at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He had been remarkably well physically and mentally up to about a year ago, but had been totally blind for some years.

Mr. Duren was born in Boston, a son of Elmintham Duren, and was baptized in the Park Street church by Dr. Edward D. Griffin. His father was a merchant and importer and one of the founders of the Handel and Haydn society, which was organized at his house April 26, 1815. He and James T. Fields were boys together in the Tinknor bookstore. He came to Bangor in 1834, establishing his

DOES RHEUMATISM BOTHER YOU?

Many Doctors Use Musterole

So many sufferers have found relief in Musterole that you ought to buy a small jar and try it.

Just spread it on with the fingers. Rub it in. First you feel a gentle glow, then a delicious, cooling comfort. Musterole routs the twinges, loosens up stiffened joints and muscles.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It penetrates to the seat of pain and drives it away, but does not blister the tenderest skin. It takes the place of the rusty, old-fashioned mustard plaster.

Musterole is recommended for bronchitis, croup, asthma, pleurisy, lumbago, neuralgia, sprains, bruises, stiff neck, headache and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

first bookstore and book-binding in the city, and was in business here for 47 years. He was the first newspaper correspondent for Boston papers.

He was the first to sell musical instruments and sheet music and the first insurance agent. His store was the congregating point of the literary and musical people of those days and for years the advance sale of tickets for entertainments was at Duren's store.

Mr. Duren has always been a student of music, was one of the best of the early church organists and has played on all the organs in the city churches except those which have been built since the fire of 1911. When past his 100th birthday, he attended several concerts, his hearing being excellent.

He has always been interested in Congregationalism, has written many church histories and assisted in preparing state and local history. In his later years he has been authority on the early history of the city, possessing a remarkable memory.

His eyesight failed nearly 26 years ago. He learned to operate a type-writer by touch and turned out almost perfect copy. In later years he has been supplied with the raised letter literature from the Philadelphia public library. He has kept in close touch with current events read to him by his family and friends. Always a staunch republican, he has voted for every whig or presidential republican candidate from William Henry Harrison to Taft.

Of his three sons, Freeman Hyde Duren of Everett, Mass., a Civil war veteran, is living at the age of 78. Another son, Charles M. Duren, served in the 54th Massachusetts Infantry and died from wounds.

Deacon Duren was cared for by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Emma F. Duren and a grand-daughter, Miss Mary Duren.

ORDERS ALL SHOPS TO CLOSE AT 8 O'CLOCK

LATEST DRASTIC ACT FOR GOV- ERNMENT CONTROL OF BUSINESS IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The latest drastic act for government control of business in the interest of war efficiency is the law passed by parliament for early closing of shops. All shopkeepers, great and small, must shut their places of business at eight o'clock, except on Saturday nights, when they may keep open until nine.

The first proposal was for even earlier closing, but the bill was amended to grant an extra hour for five days of the week, by changing seven to eight.

The chief object aimed at is economy of heating and lighting, which of course means economy of coal. One of the great assets of Great Britain during

YOUNG WOMEN MAY AVOID PAIN

Need Only Trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, says Mrs. Kurtzweg.

Buffalo, N.Y.—"My daughter, whose picture is herewith, was much troubled with pains in her back and sides every month and they would sometimes be so bad that it would seem like acute inflammation of some organ. She read your advertisement in the newspapers and tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

She praises it highly as she has been relieved of all these pains by its use. All mothers should know of this remedy, and all young girls who suffer should try it."—Mrs. MATILDA KURTZWEG, 523 High St., Buffalo, N.Y.

Young women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, headache, dragging-down sensations, fainting spells or indigestion, should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands have been restored to health by this root and herb remedy.

There is nothing that teaches more than experience. Therefore, such letters from young women who have suffered and were restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be a lesson to others. The same remedy is within reach of all.

the war is its revenue from the exportation of coal, and moreover its allies need all they can get. Like every other war measure, however, this act excites opposition and creates complications, although the people as a whole will accept it cheerfully as they have other inconveniences.

The small shopkeepers who live at their place of business are the ones who find most objection. One ground of criticism is that the public houses are still to be opened until half past nine. "Why should men and women be allowed to gather in drinking places and buy beer if they cannot loaf in a cigar store and buy cigars, and gossip with the clerk?" is one of the questions asked. Places where meals are served may remain open, but only for the purpose of giving meals. They cannot sell cigars, nor can they sell candy or food to be taken off the premises, since the shopkeepers dealing in the same commodities are forbidden to sell. Nor can the night hawk who has carts, according to some construction of the law, sell cakes to be taken away.

Some of the complications concern places of amusement. "The theatres and music halls must not sell cigars and confectionery after 8 o'clock, if we cannot," say the small shopkeepers. "That would be class legislation, and unfair competition." Smokers who are up late, hereafter, must have tobacco in their pockets, or go without.

SWEDISH CHURCH OBSERVES 25TH ANNIVERSARY

Last night was gala night at the Swedish Methodist Episcopal church on Moore street when the congregation gathered with the pastor and many invited guests to observe the 25th anniversary. Over 150 sat down to a delicious roast chicken banquet and then went to the church to hear the addresses of the occasion.

Rev. Edwin T. Stromberg, the pastor, presided and after giving a brief historical review of the church, introduced the speakers, including the following: Rev. H. E. Whymann of Malden, superintendent of the Boston district; Rev. O. W. Johnson of Boston, a former pastor of the congregation; Rev. O. K. Sundberg of Brockton; Rev. C. E. Rydstrom of Lynn; Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews, pastor of the Gotham Street Methodist church; Rev. E. E. Norrgran, pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church; and Rev. Alcott Wilson, pastor of the Swedish Congregational church. Piano solos were given by John Laurin, violin solos by Miss Esther Pahl, song by Andrew Pahl, and selections by the church choir.

A pleasing feature of the occasion was the presence of ten of the charter members, viz: Mr. and Mrs. Carl Laurin, A. P. Swanson, Mr. and Mrs. August Anderson, Miss Gina Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Schomborn, Miss Ida Anderson and John Anderson.

The present church has been paid for, though there still remains due about $100, owing to the building of a basement by Rev. Mr. Stromberg. There are about 100 members of the church in good standing.

The anniversary exercises will be continued tonight. A missionary sermon will be preached by Rev. C. E. Rydstrom, with Rev. O. W. Johnson and Rev. O. K. Sundberg participating in the service. After the evening concert will be given, and on Sunday there will be special preaching at the three services. In the morning Rev. O. W. Johnson will preach. In the afternoon Rev. Newton P. Sandstrom of Quincy will be the speaker, and in the evening Rev. H. E. Whymann of Malden will preach.

STATE CLINICS FOR PARALYSIS CASES

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—The state department of health, acting in conjunction with the Harvard paralysis commission, will establish clinics for after care of sufferers from infantile paralysis.

The state department issued the following statement yesterday afternoon: "As previously announced, the governor and council gave the state department of health $5000 from the contingent fund with which to inaugurate a system of after care of patients suffering from infantile paralysis. This year there have been in the state more than 1700 cases of this disease, a figure much in excess of any previous years. Of the non-fatal cases a considerable majority will suffer a varying amount of permanent defect. With proper treatment the amount of defect is reduced and, in some cases, wholly avoided.

"Because of the hitherto comparatively infrequent occurrence of this disease, experience in the treatment of the disease has been limited.

"For this reason it seems desirable to offer opportunity for all patients to receive the most skillful treatment possible. To this end the state department of health has joined with the Harvard infantile paralysis commission in providing a series of clinics to be located in Boston and at points outside the metropolitan area, where physicians may bring their patients for consultation and advise as to treatment. Patients will be received only with the consent of the attending physician.

"The work of the clinics will be under the supervision of the Harvard infantile paralysis commission, with skilled surgeons in attendance at the clinics, together with nurses especially trained for the work to assist at the clinics to care for the follow-up work in the homes and to instruct patients and their parents as to exercise and treatment advised. Where physicians are unable to accompany their patients to the clinic the suggestions will be communicated to them by letter.

"The members of the commission are Roger Pierce, Dr. M. M. Peabody, who is interested in the care of acute cases; Dr. R. W. Lovett, who is particularly interested in after care of infantile paralysis; and Dr. M. J. Rosenau, who is especially interested in the study of the disease and research problem.

"The Boston clinic will open about Nov. 20. The hour and place, as well as the time and location of the clinic outside of Boston will be announced later."

REMEDY FOR NEURASTHENIA

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are oversensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills.

Two useful books "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

TARZEIN IS SAVED FROM THE CHAIR

DEATH SENTENCE COMMUTED BY
GOVERNOR AND COUNCIL.—MURDER IN CHELSEA

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—After several hours' deliberation, Gov. McCall and the executive council yesterday voted unanimously to commute the sentence imposed on Adam Tarzein, condemned to die the week beginning Nov. 19 for the murder in Chelsea last January of Betty and Anna Ostrovick. Lieut.-Gov. Coolidge and all the council were present, the governor presiding.

Although the vote was unanimous, it is known that at least one councilor was for a time inclined to oppose commutation.

Gov. McCall issued a statement later, as follows: "The pardoning power is not intended to operate as an appeal from the action of the courts and its exercise does not constitute the slightest impeachment of our judicial tribunals.

"It appeared to be a case where the extreme penalty of the law should not be exacted and where imprisonment for life might well be substituted for the punishment imposed. Under all the circumstances it seemed to be a case where society might be spared the ordeal of taking a human life."

Sheriff Quinn had interested himself in the prisoner's behalf some time ago and appeared Wednesday at the state house to recommend executive clemency. "I thought that it was a good case for commutation," said Sheriff Quinn yesterday. "I told Tarzein that Gov. McCall was opposed to capital punishment and that he might have a chance."

"You oppose capital punishment yourself, sheriff?"

"I do, but I was on the other side once," replied the sheriff. "When I was in the legislature I made a speech which prevented the repeal of the capital punishment law. But I've changed my mind. My boy, it's different when you have to pull the rope. You get the other side of it then."

Tarzein's counsel, Thomas F. Vahey, waited at the council chamber until the decision was reached and left immediately for the Charles street jail to notify his client. Mr. Vahey was the only speaker at the hearing. He said Tarzein's act was not premeditated and that it was the act of a man with a disordered mind. Tarzein, he said, planned to kill himself and was reading a Bible in his room preparatory to suicide when the two women entered and insulted him so that he became enraged and shot them both, and then turned the revolver on himself.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" the brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

CAN'T FIND DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears after one or two applications of Dandruff rubbed well into the scalp with the finger tips. Get a 25-cent bottle of Dandruff at any drug store and save your hair. After a few applications you can't find a particle of dandruff or any itching hair, and the scalp will never fall.

SYRUP OF FIGS FOR CROSS, SICK FEVERISH CHILD

If little stomach is sour, liver torpid or bowels clogged

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can't cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—If full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomachache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Tarzein's counsel, Thomas F. Vahey, waited at the council chamber until the decision was reached and left immediately for the Charles street jail to notify his client. ## 120 LIVES LOST WHEN BARGE SANK

LONDON, Nov. 10.—One hundred and twenty persons have been drowned through the sinking of a barge on the Vistula, according to a Central News despatch from Amsterdam. The disaster occurred at Kamierz near Lubin in Poland.

ENGAGED TO BOSTON WOMAN
KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 10.—Naval Lieut. Welsh, who with Lieut. C. K. Bronson was killed Wednesday at Indian Head, Md., when an aerial bomb shattered the airplane in which they were making a test of the explosive, received his appointment from Kansas City in 1908.

His fight for the appointment attracted wide notice at the time as he found himself two inches under height in his physical examination after passing a brilliant scholastic test. Young Welsh placed himself under a physical instructor and by exercises and weights increased his height to the minimum requirement in the allotted time.

Lieut. Welsh was to have been married Nov. 23 to a young woman in Boston, relatives here declared.

CAVALRY GREETED BY CROWDS AT ARMORY

FIRST SQUAD OF NATIONAL GUARD REACHES HOME—WOULD
GO BACK TOMORROW

BOSTON, Nov. 10.—Last night the 1st Squadron Cavalry, the mounted arm of the National Guard of Massachusetts, arrived home from the Texas border with every man in the pink of condition.

There was a tedious wait for the relatives and friends of the organization, and there were also doubts as to where the troops were to be landed. The majority assembled at the new Commonwealth armory, and it was at this point that the men received their real welcome.

The train, which was made up of 27 freight, horse and tourist cars, was one of the heaviest that has been run over the various railroads, and consequently its progress was slow, but immediately the train was turned over to the railroads which have been a terminus every effort was made to get the squadron home quickly.

It was after 6 o'clock when the train bearing Maj. Charles A. Schmitt and command pulled into the Brighton cattle-yards, and the few hundred people assembled gave the returning soldiers a real and true welcome. Members of the four troops immediately detrained. The 150 horses were unloaded and were on their way to the armory inside of 30 minutes.

The baggage and camp impedimenta also came off in record time and the four troops were seen on the way to the armory. It was a fine piece of work for every troop and reflected credit on both officers and men, as it was done in the dark.

On arriving at the armory the real

"homecoming" of the squadron was realized, as the vast structure was crowded with relatives and friends, and the men who had spent the last four months on the border felt that they had not been forgotten.

Gen. Cutting, the chief armorer, had everything prepared for the squadron but stalls for the horses. There were cars for the men and blankets, but the horses had to be turned loose on the tank with ample water and stacks of hay. They appeared just as happy as the men, and after a good feed just lay down for a good night's rest, after eight days in closed cars.

The outfit returned home in the best of condition, the men fully equipped for a winter campaign, with overcoats and sweaters, and a happier bunch of young men would be hard to find in Massachusetts. The majority expressed themselves as willing to return to the border tomorrow.

The squadron is made up of Boston men, and undoubtedly had they arrived earlier in the day they would have received a warm welcome.

At the armory, and after receiving the good wishes of their friends, the majority repaired to their homes, leave having been granted them until this morning at 2.30, when every man is expected to answer the roll call.

On board the train were 18 officers and 350 men, comprising Troop A (National Lancers), also known as the governor's mounted bodyguard; Troop B, to which many State street men belong; Troop C, also known as the "Harvard" troop; Troop D (Hoxbury Horse Guards) and the attached sanitary troops.

Like all troops that have returned, the cavalry had attractions enough for a side show at a circus, including birds, beasts and reptiles, and also goat, dogs and burros, all of which will be on exhibition at the armory today.

THIRD MAJOR LEAGUE MAY ENTER FIELD

PLAN TO ASSEMBLE EASTERN AND WESTERN CITIES NOW IN THE MINORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—The formation of a third major league, consisting of the leading cities in the international league and American association and sanctioned by organized baseball, will be one of the leading topics to come up for discussion before the annual meeting of the minor leagues, to be held in New Orleans next Tuesday.

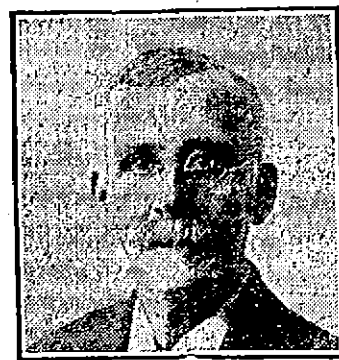

Such a league would take in Baltimore, Buffalo, Newark and Toronto from the international league and Louisville, Indianapolis, Milwaukee and Toledo in the American association. Kansas City, which drew well in the Federal league in 1915, would be favored over Toledo but for its geographical location.

WORDS OF PRAISE FOR PLANT JUICE

Popular Retired Business Man
Is Feeling the Best He
Has in Years.

Relative to the remarkable new preparation, Plant Juice, the herbal stomach remedy, now being introduced in Lowell for the first time, and which has created such a sensation in the large western cities,

CHARLES H. COLLIER

where thousands have flocked to the headquarters to testify to the great benefits received therefrom, is the following signed testimonial of Mr. Charles H. Collier, of No. 16 Conant street, Salem, Mass., a retired business man of that town, who has been a friend of this city. He said:

"For 15 years I have been troubled with my stomach, which was all filled with gas which pressed on my heart, and I thought I had heart trouble; I could not eat anything without having a burning sensation in my stomach; could not sleep at night and got very weak and miserable, in fact completely run down; I had headaches, and was so dizzy at times that I thought I would fall over; had catarrh of the stomach, and the gas in my stomach pained me so that some times I thought I would die. I had tried everything in the shape of medicine but never received any permanent benefit until I began to take Plant Juice. It relieved my trouble immediately and since I have taken two bottles I feel the best I have in years; the gas has left my system. I have a good appetite and enjoy all of my meals now, and sleep well at night. Plant Juice is the most wonderful medicine I ever heard of, and I am glad to give this endorsement for it."

The Plant Juice Man is at Dows, the Druggist's, in Merrimack Square, where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. It is said that in the past, when the defunct Federal league, Milwaukee was in the American league until 1904, when its franchise was transferred to St. Louis, and also put in one year in the National league, while Louisville was in the National league for quite a spell before the parent major league was reduced from a 12 to an eight club league in 1900. Baltimore, Buffalo and Indianapolis have all been represented at various times in both the National and American leagues.

Ban Johnson, president of the American league, and Ed Barrow, president of the international league, already have talked over such a merger and it also has been discussed with men prominent in the American association. If the plan would succeed the league would be known as the American association and Barrow would be elected president.

If such a move is undertaken it will be the direct offshoot of the Federal league war of 1914 and 1915, which left the international league a wreck and still is being felt throughout the entire minor league belt. Prior to the big baseball war the international league was one of the most prosperous in the country, with franchises valued at from $100,000 to $200,000. The Federal league put big league notions into the heads of the fans in Baltimore, Newark and Buffalo, and when the baseball war was over they returned to go back to the international league.

Something drastic must be done for the big minors, and major league rating may be the only way out of the difficulty. Should the international-American association merger be effected, the new league would immediately be exempt from the draft, and it may be given several years to build itself up to real major league strength. After such a term of years the league would be eligible for the world's series, and it would immediately have a representative on the National commission.

Such a merger would mean an entirely new arrangement of the minor league baseball map. The Western league was in bad straits last year and it could be propped up by the cities left over by the association—St. Paul, Minneapolis, Kansas City and Columbus. A new league, taking in Providence, Rochester, Montreal and the best cities in the New York State league, could form a new organization, which would retain the name of the international league. Richmond, which has had two years' experience in the international league, could be returned to the Virginia league or given a berth in the Southern association, taking the place of Norfolk, the weak link of the Dixie circuit.

That a great deal of interest is being manifested in the minor leagues' annual conference is evident from the large delegations of local magnates who will attend the New Orleans gathering. President Barrow and Captain Huston, half owner of the Yankees, are on their way to the meeting, having stopped at Dover Hall, Ga. President Tener of the National league, Business Manager Sparrow of the Yankees and President Ebbets of the Brooklynians will also be in attendance.

THE SUN'S GREAT SCOOP

The Lowell Sun was the first paper in the United States to announce positively the victory of President Wilson the day after election.

Today the newspapers big and little of this country are announcing the re-election of President Wilson, just three days after the news appeared in this paper based on a mathematical survey of the returns from the western states. In our computation the most liberal allowance was made to Mr. Hughes in the states from which the returns were incomplete. There was no possible conclusion but the election of President Wilson.

Some of our political opponents hinted that we were unfair in our decision, but if we erred at all it was by allowing Mr. Hughes more than belonged to him.

But let us examine the figures upon which we based our conclusion. We gave Wilson 273 electoral votes. This included the votes of California and North Dakota, in which the president's lead was clearly too great to be overcome. The vote of New Hampshire was added later. Because of the strong republican lead in West Virginia, we placed that state in the Hughes column. As the vote in Minnesota and New Mexico was uncertain, we gave both these states to Hughes, making his total 258, although Wilson had an equal chance of carrying at least one of them. By a calculation in percentage of gain or loss based upon the returns received and upon the political complexion of each of the states classed as doubtful on the face of the returns, The Sun was able to decide for the people the question of who was elected while other papers were floundering in doubt, and changing hourly from Hughes to Wilson and back again.

Even this morning the Courier-Citizen is not ready to concede the election of Wilson although our neighbor may be excused on the ground that it was among the number that celebrated the election of Mr. Hughes on Tuesday night. The display of American flags on the narrow-chested Courier-Citizen building looked very nice in the glare of the White Way. Of course it was an intimation that the greater part of the patriotism and practically all of the "Irre Americanism" of which our city can boast had its lodgment in the Courier-Citizen office; but as for capacity to compute election percentages and draw accurate deductions as to results, the people had to look to The Sun building. We were not among those who believed that the candidate who carried New York and New England was surely elected.

In this category some otherwise great newspapers lost their reputation for accuracy, among them being the New York Herald, The Times, and even The World. In Boston the sensational sheet had an election extra on the street before 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening and told what states had been carried by Hughes long before the polls had closed in Nebraska and other western states.

Even the usually conservative and reliable Boston Globe last evening congratulated itself upon not being in the false prophet class. It had made no positive announcement beyond giving the actual vote conceded to each candidate and telling which was leading in the other states. This morning it came out with a statement of the total vote giving Wilson 276 and Hughes 255, differing only three votes from our statement of yesterday and the figures on which we announced the election of Wilson on Wednesday. Here again is proof that in declaring Mr. Wilson elected, The Sun gave Mr. Hughes all the states that his friends could reasonably claim for him and some which we felt would finally go over to Wilson.

Today the New York Sun has the electoral vote set at 273 for Wilson and 259 for Hughes, just one vote different from our totals of yesterday. Our New York namesake, however, is wrong in giving New Hampshire with four votes to Hughes, while we, in spite of Wilson's lead in New Mexico, gave the three votes of that state to Hughes so as to avoid anything like unfairness. Both these states are now for Wilson.

We bring this matter to the attention of the public to demonstrate that our announcement of Wilson's election on Wednesday was not based on mere guess work. In the morning The Sun put out "An Extra" saying the "election was in doubt," but followed two hours later with an edition indicating that Wilson's election was probable. In our last edition, we gave the result of a scientific computation which showed that Hughes could not cut down Wilson's lead to the extent necessary to elect him. Therefore, on the most logical and incontrovertible basis, we announced the result and in so doing, so far as we can learn, The Sun was the only paper in the United States to announce the accurate result the day after the voting.

We hereby acknowledge messages by wire and otherwise congratulating The Sun upon a feat that is likely to become historic and one which men who watched the papers of the country say stands unrivalled.

FORMER ELECTION CONTESTS

The present election recalls others in which the results were so close that great delay resulted. That was particularly the case in the election of 1876 in the Tilden-Hayes contest. The republican party had been in power for sixteen years and the people wanted a change. Samuel J. Tilden, one of the greatest democrats this country ever produced, was the democratic standard bearer and Rutherford B. Hayes of Ohio, the republican.

On the face of the election returns it appeared that Tilden was elected, but the republicans claimed Louisiana, Florida and Oregon for Hayes. These claims were disputed by the democrats. A special electoral commission of fifteen consisting of senators, representatives and supreme court judges was created for the purpose of canvassing the results and deciding the controversy.

All the disputed votes were given to Hayes by this commission and he accordingly was elected by a majority of one vote in the electoral college.

It was generally believed at the time and it has been the belief of democrats at least ever since, that the election was stolen from Tilden by political trickery.

In the election of Cleveland in 1892, there was great delay in the work of getting the final returns. Cleveland finally was declared elected with 277 electoral votes to 145 for Benjamin Harrison.

The republicans somehow seem to harbor the idea that it should be their privilege to remain in power indefinitely and they fight against removal by every scheme they can devise to save them. In the present election they are fighting with their usual strenuousness to get back into office. But the odds are plainly too heavy against them to permit any subversion of the will of the people.

THE HOMESTEAD LAW

The Homestead commission is to ask the next legislature for an appropriation of $50,000 for the purpose of starting the work contemplated by the act. That sum will not go far towards carrying out the aims of the Homestead act, but it may suffice to show what might be done under a more liberal allowance. The idea is to assist people of limited means in acquiring homes of their own either by direct purchase or by building for themselves. Apparently, what the state might do to advantage would be to build cottages suitable for families of small means, but sanitary and commodious, these to be sold at easy terms to the families that need them. Doubtless any attempt to do this will be met at once by competition and interference from agencies now in existence, but whose work is entirely for their own benefit.

Should the state enter upon such an enterprise on any extended scale, it should first of all devise several plans for single family cottages and arrange for their construction at a minimum cost. With these essentials as a starting point, it would be comparatively easy to secure land at a reasonable rate, although once the owners know that the state wants the land, they will be likely to put up the price. The Homestead commission law has great possibilities of good if operated on any liberal scale. Just as soon as the state can show the wage earner who pays rent that he can purchase a home in eight or ten years by paying just a little more than his present rent, he will grasp at the opportunity. That aid should be placed within reach of every industrious man.

THE DECIDING FACTORS

The influences that operated in this election to turn some republican states into the democratic column and some democratic into the opposition, are varied and inexplicable. In some cases the progressive legislation by the democratic party and the fact that we enjoy prosperity was a deciding factor, but in many the prime influence was the belief that Wilson is a safe man to have in the White House in case of trouble. He is not a braggart, not a semi-military boaster, not a hot head with a chip on his shoulder seeking somebody to knock it off. It may be averred that neither is Mr. Hughes such a man; but if not he is allied to and controlled by such men; and during his campaign he approved practically all that Roosevelt said while in some instances he was quite as much of a jingo as Roosevelt himself.

The old maxim that it is bad policy to change horses in crossing a stream was also considered and had its influence of course. The people know what Wilson stands for but they do not know what policies Mr. Hughes would inaugurate were he placed in the White House. If he kept his promise to blot out the whole democratic accomplishment, it is fortunate that he will not have the opportunity.

THE SMALL STATES

Some of the small states such as New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota must feel that they have suddenly taken on increased importance since upon them rests a large share of the responsibility of deciding the presidential contest.

Through the discovery of an error in the count, New Hampshire was swung from Hughes to Wilson to the great surprise of the republicans. Both in Maine and New Hampshire the campaign methods of Hughes, Lodge and Roosevelt disgusted many of the voters with the result that the republican vote in Maine was largely cut down from the figures of the state election and New Hampshire, a strongly republican state, was driven into the democratic column. The democratic party is perhaps indebted to the republican alarmists and roor-back manufacturers for helping to elect Mr. Wilson.

THE ELECTORAL COLLEGE

The people of this nation as a result of the close contest in the presidential election, will know more of the electoral college than ever before. Even the school children are canvassing the electoral vote of the states regarded as doubtful or whose returns have been late in getting in. They may not all know that the number of electoral votes for each state is equal to the number of the members of congress for that state plus the two United States senators. Thus while New York has 45 such votes there are five small states that have but 3 each. By most of the political experts, it has been assumed that no presidential candidate could win without New York, but Wilson, with a solid south, has discredited that assumption for all time, a fact which some of the New York papers will undoubtedly remember.

It is not unlikely that the newly elected congress will be called in extra session. Under the constitution the new body would not meet until December, 1917. This is an arrangement that should be changed as the new men should get into the harness without waiting a year to assume their duties. President Wilson will find business for the new congress and is not likely to wait for the constitutional time for beginning business.

Every good citizen wants to see fair play in giving effect to the will of the people. Any attempt to vitiate the election returns either by democrat or republican should be met with the severest penalty.

We most cordially welcome New Hampshire into the list of democratic states. It will be Maine's turn next and then Massachusetts will follow the good example.

He may not have kept us out of war but he did not get us into war, nor is he likely to unless the honor and safety of the country demand it.

Had the democrats of this state picked their strongest man and nominated him in a proper manner they might have beaten Mr. Lodge.

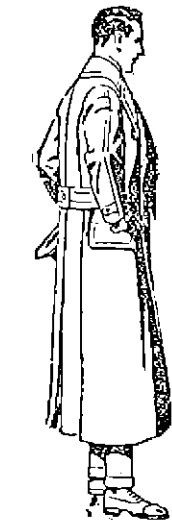

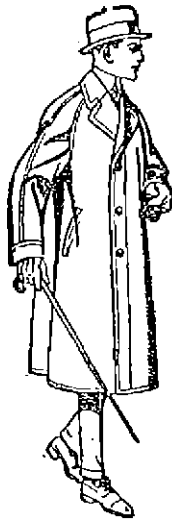

The forest fire season is now on. The small boy and the hunter should exercise more care than formerly.

Seen and Heard

It is reported that the Japs are making aeroplanes out of fly paper.

Joe Hibbard says there was no truth to the report that he was on the stump for Hughes.

You may say what you will, but the average man would think it over quite a while before proposing to a school teacher.

There's a man in the Highlands who manages to keep out of a whole lot of trouble at home because of the fact that he is a quick thinker. The other night he went home and his wife accused him of drinking, declaring that she smelled it on his breath. "Not a drop," said Mr. Quick Thinker, "I've been eating frogs' legs. What you smell is the hops."

Perfectly Satisfied
"Do you love me better than any girl you ever knew?" asked the confiding damsel.

"Infinitely better," replied the experienced swain. "In fact, the affection I have thought I felt for others is chiefly remarkable for the difference between it and the whole-hearted devotion I give you."

Whereupon she snuggled up a little closer.

The Arabia was struck aft on the starboard side by the torpedo which sank her. There was no panic among the 437 passengers or the crew who immediately took to the boats. ## PETER SOUFLIS REPLIES TO SCHOOL BOARD

WRITES OF RECENT VISIT OF SCHOOL COMMITTEE TO HIS SCHOOL

The following statement has been given to The Sun by Peter Souflis, principal of the Greek school, who wishes to set before the Lowell public "A True Version of Conditions at the Greek School." This statement is in answer to published accounts of a recent visit of the Lowell school committee to the school and what they found there. One who talks with Mr. Souflis cannot but be impressed with his earnestness, sincerity and ability. Here is his statement:

I have to express my heartfelt thanks to the school committee for their sudden visit to the Greek school, on Worthen street and Broadway. I wouldn't omit to express also my gratitude to this pedagogical staff of the school committee, who found the complaints regarding the "penalties" which are said to be inflicted in the Greek school baseless and frankly contradicted those calumniators and with sympathy to the school. The dignified school committee found, on their unexpected visit, that these calumnious reports or rumors were without foundation.

Concerning the English taught in our school, we have long realized it is not sufficient, and have been doing our best to increase the amount taught. Fully seventy-five per cent of our children can carry on an ordinary conversation when addressed by one with whom they are familiar. Had we been asked for a demonstration of their knowledge of English, I feel sure the public would have received a different impression than that "they couldn't even answer when asked their own names."

My teachers and I know the nature and uses of punishment. We know that punishments to be thoroughly effective must be prompt and suited to the character of the child. I have been graduated after a college education, according to the law of Greece and Germany. A spent four years in Athens Normal school, and I learned the elementary pedagogical rule, that punishment should be so graduated as to accord with a natural scale of blameworthiness. My teachers and I know that corporal punishment is clearly unsuited to the children and that it has been banished and ostracized long ago from the civilized schools. We know that few things in school work are of such weight and importance, few are so beset with difficulties, as the clear appreciation of the province and uses of punishment and its proper administration. We know at last that our pupils must learn cheerfully and we have been so zealous and affable with them that they think they are still at home; gaining their ideas, systematically and according to the pedagogical rules, under their father's or mother's direction, they shape their character and direct their conduct in
